

WIDESPREAD DYNAMITE PLOT IS REVEALED IN LOS ANGELES

Times Building Blown Up; Bombs for Gen. Otis and Zeehandelaar

DEATH LIST IN DISASTER SHOWS SCORE LOST WITH MANY SERIOUSLY INJURED

Los Angeles Council Sets Aside $25,000 for Solution of Mystery—Otis Blames Unions; Leaders Say "No"—Building Trades Offer Reward—Clues Unearthed by Police.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1.—A tremendous explosion at 1:10 this morning, resulting within two hours in the total destruction of the six-story building occupied by the Los Angeles Times, the almost certain loss of nineteen lives, the injury of more than a score of others and the financial loss of half a million dollars, followed by the finding of a dynamite bomb at 9:15 a. m. under the residence of F. J. Zeehandelaar, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, and of another late in the day under a window of the residence of General Harrison Gray Otis, editor-in-chief of the Times, have kept this city in a ferment of excitement and made this day one of sensational tragic events.

Within a minute after the explosion in the Times office, the instantaneous ignition of gas from the pipes throughout the building caused flames to dart from a hundred windows and leap far above the roof. Its force was greatest in the heart of the building, directly under the composing room. The men working there were thrown to the ground and the linotype machines tumbled over like a house of cards.

There were 115 employees in the building at the time, half a hundred others having left within a half hour before with the winding up of the work for the first edition. The scenes that followed were indescribable. Men cut off from ordinary exits by flames darting from every side, rushed hither and thither looking for means of escape and were forced to jump from second and third story windows to the street below. Most of the serious injuries were the results of these leaps for life.

Even this opportunity of escape was denied to those who are numbered among the missing, most of whom are buried under the ruins. They died crushed to death under crumbling walls or suffocated by the smoke and flames.

ACCUSES UNIONS. The Times got out its regular issue today printed on its auxiliary plant, provided, its management says, as a safeguard against just such a disaster as has befallen it. In this issue it charged the labor unions, against which it has waged bitter warfare for twenty years, for the destruction of its plant and the consequent loss of life and property. Officials of the various unions disavow responsibility and offer their assistance in detection of the perpetrators.

The city had hardly awakened to a knowledge of the fullness of the disaster when the news that a dynamite bomb had been found under the house of Felix Zeehandelaar swelled the excitement. The bomb, one of the clock-work kind, had been timed to do its work at the exact moment that the explosion occurred in the Times building, but through some flaw in its mechanism, had failed to explode on time. The finding of this bomb was succeeded by the discovery of another under the window of the Wilshire boulevard residence of General Harrison Gray Otis, president of the Times-Mirror Company and editor-in-chief of the Times. This bomb was concealed in a valise and hidden under some bushes. It was discovered, thrown into the street and exploded, tearing up the ground and doing other minor damage.

DIG FOR BODIES. One hundred men were put at work today digging for the bodies of more bodies believed to be buried in the ruins of the Times building. Late in the afternoon the first body was recovered. It was that of J. Wesley Reaves, private secretary to Assistant General Manager Harry Chandler, and was found where Chandler had left him a few minutes before the explosion.

Only the unusual circumstance that his wife had called for Mr. Chandler to take him home before his usual hour had saved him from a like fate. As soon as they could be reached, the mayor called the city council into extraordinary session and $25,000 was appropriated to be used for the purpose of finding the alleged dynamite. A conference was also held between the labor leaders and the chief of police, and it was mutually decided to call off a labor demonstration that had been planned for Monday against an anti-picketing ordinance recently passed by the council and under which a large number of arrests have been made and men sent to jail.

GET FIRST CLUE. The first step taken in the direction of ascertaining who are the guilty parties was the appointment of an investigating committee of five. One of its members is William Mulholland, superintendent of the Los Angeles aqueduct, the big municipal water project. Mulholland has identified one of the sticks of dynamite found in the Zeehandelaar house as the one wrapped up as part of a shipment for the aqueduct made from Giant, Cal., September 20. This is the only clue thus far found.

General Otis reached the city from Mexico at 3:30 this afternoon and was met at the depot by some 200 members of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, who greeted him with cheers.

Paul P. Baker, president of the Baker Iron Works, says that a number of employees, including himself, involved in the iron workers' strike, now on in this city, have received since the inception of the strike letters threatening them with dynamite.

Only one among these first reported missing has been found. This is V. R. Glazier, a watchman for the Times. The rest have perished, it is believed, almost beyond a doubt.

The building of the Baumgardt Publishing Company, adjoining the Times, was also completely destroyed, together with the plant of the Weekly Graphic.

LIST OF CASUALTIES IN CATASTROPHE TO L. A. TIMES BUILDING

NEWSPAPER WRITERS START FUND TO AID VICTIMS' FAMILIES

AT THREE o'clock, Oct. 1, at a meeting of newspaper writers at Guthrie's night club, it was agreed to start a fund to be used for the benefit of the families of the men in the editorial department of the Los Angeles Times who were killed in the explosion and fire.

MINING CONGRESS DEPLORES TRAGEDY

Extends Sympathies to Times Before Adjourning Its 1910 Session.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1. Organized effort to prevent the enactment of proposed conservation laws, to open up the forest reserves to the unrestricted use of mining prospectors, to meet railroad from possession of lands on which the government grants were made to secure more home rule for Alaska and lower freight rates on ore in the West, these specifications were the results of the six days' work of the American Mining Congress, which closed its 1910 convention today with a preliminary meeting, which was followed by a frolic on the seashore at Long Beach.

The congress adopted a resolution relating to the destruction of the building and plant of the Los Angeles Times last night. The resolution reads: "The American Mining Congress, at the close of the most important and most enjoyable convention in its history, deplores the disaster which wrecked the plant of the Los Angeles Times last night. It extends to the Times and to the widows, orphans and relatives of those who have been taken, its deepest sympathy, and hopes that the blame will be promptly and properly placed and that the culpable, if any there be, will be adequately punished."

HUNDRED AND FIFTY BURIED IN MINE

All of Number Believed to Have Perished Following Explosion of Gas.

AMERICANS MISSING Loss of Natives and Japanese in Mexican Mine 150 to 300.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, Oct. 1.—One hundred and fifty miners, possibly more, are entombed and believed to be dead in mine No. 2 at Palau, Mexico, in the Las Esperanzas mining district, operated by the National Railway Lines of Mexico, as a result of two explosions, presumably because of an accumulation of gas last night and early today. The men entombed are mostly natives and Japanese miners, although the number includes several Americans.

At the time of the first explosion the entire night shift, estimated at from 150 to 300 men, was at work. Of these men had reached the surface at a late hour today and probably are dead.

The second explosion occurred shortly after a rescue party, composed largely of Americans, had descended. That they were killed is thought certain.

However, information received so far has been meager. Officially no statement has been made other than the disaster was "very serious" and a special train with physicians and nurses left for the mine early today for the scene.

William P. Hollis, material agent for the government railway, under whose supervision the mines are conducted, has also proceeded to the mine. He is located near the town of Muzquiz in the State of Coahuila. An explosion occurred in the same mine a year ago, several hundred Mexican and Japanese miners losing their lives at the time.

WYNNMALEN SOARS TO A HEIGHT OF 9,121 FEET, A NEW RECORD

MOULMELON, France, Oct. 1.—Wynnmaelen, the aviator, established a new world's record for altitude today, rising to a height of 9,121 feet. The first ascent, made at 10:30 a. m., was made by the late George Chavez.

Wynnmaelen rose until his motor failed him and then made a perilous descent. He entered intensely and his exciting experience was similar to that of John B. Moore, who in September of 1909, established a record that stood until eclipsed by Chavez.

When his motor stopped there was nothing left for him to do but to sail down to earth. This was accomplished in thirteen minutes. An examination showed that the carburetor had been frozen. The flight was official and the record will stand.

Henry Wynnmaelen is a new comer in the world of aviation. He first attracted international attention on September 26th, when, at Bourges, he rose to a height of 7,000 feet.

Wynnmaelen was born in Holland in 1875. He was given an aviation license only last month.

JUMP! YELLS JOKER ON CAR; TWO ARE INJURED

MOLINE, Ill., Oct. 1.—As the result of an alleged practical joke, Miss Emma Ball, aged 21, cashier of a local department store, is dead and Mrs. John Gussford, wife of a railway fireman, is dying in a Moline hospital. Both were riding on a Moline, East Moline and Watertown Interurban car last night when the two women jumped from the car. Mrs. Ball died on the way to the hospital.

"Car on fire, jump!" The two women leaped from the car. Miss Ball died on the way to the hospital.

AVIATOR HAAS KILLED BY FALL OF MACHINE

MEtz, Germany, Oct. 1.—Aviator Haas, 24, and was instantly killed today while taking part in a distance competition from Trossa to Metz.

TENDER UPSETS AND U. S. JACKIES DROWN IN THE NORTH RIVER

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Several sailors from the battleship New Hampshire were drowned by the upsetting of a tender in the North river off One Hundred and Fifty-second street tonight. Estimates of the dead vary from three to as high as twelve, but as no official count has been made of the number aboard the tender and as many men have shore leave, it was impossible accurately to fix the list of missing tonight.

The sailors were returning to the New Hampshire after shore leave and more than 100 of them, it is estimated, had crowded aboard the tender, which was being towed to the battleship.

About 300 yards off shore the craft either swamped or was upset and the entire load of jackies was participated into the water.

Boats were immediately put out from the New Hampshire and wherever a drowning head showed a man was rescued. But in the darkness, several sank and others were unconscious when dragged to safety.

On board the New Hampshire sixty-one with wet clothes were counted. Indicating merely that sixty-one had been saved and leaving blank the more serious gap of possible dead. As 250 men from the ship had shore leave tonight there was no way of ascertaining just how many were aboard the tender. Several sailors who were in the upset boat testified to estimate the number but, although those are inclined to take a more serious view of the affair placed the list as high as thirty.

No information could be obtained on board the New Hampshire. The men who were rescued were hustled below and the officer on deck said that an estimate of the dead was out of the question tonight.

Middleman Godfrey De Chevalier, who had charge of the tender, was taken from the water unconscious and is in the ship's hospital. It is reported that he saved 15 sailors before exhaustion overcame him.

The New Hampshire with her sister ship, the Albatross, is anchored in the Hudson off the upper part of the city, having arrived at New York this week after target practice off Hampton Roads.

JOHNSON GUEST OF L. A. UNION LEAGUE Phil Stanton a Speaker at Banquet; Candidate Suspends Morning Tour.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1.—Despite the elimination of his entire morning itinerary as prepared by the Los Angeles county Republican committee, Hiram W. Johnson, Republican nominee for governor, put in a busy day in this vicinity today. Owing to the late arrival of his train from Fresno, and to the rumor of the death of General H. G. Otis of the Times, which was not authoritatively denied until nearly noon, the morning program was cancelled.

At 2 o'clock Johnson was taken aboard a special trolley car, together with about fifty prominent Republicans of this city, and made a trip which included stops for five speeches. He made an address of thirty minutes to an audience of more than 2,000 persons in the Library Park at Long Beach and short speeches from the steps of the special car at Watts, Compton, Wilmington and San Pedro.

At noon, the Republican standard bearer was a guest at the California Club. At 5 o'clock a reception in his honor was held at a downtown cafe, followed by a dinner at 7 o'clock under the auspices of the Union League of Los Angeles, at which about 500 were present. Among the speakers were Phil Stanton, who is one of Johnson's opponents for the Republican nomination for governor.

At 8 o'clock Johnson was taken aboard a special trolley car, together with about fifty prominent Republicans of this city, and made a trip which included stops for five speeches. He made an address of thirty minutes to an audience of more than 2,000 persons in the Library Park at Long Beach and short speeches from the steps of the special car at Watts, Compton, Wilmington and San Pedro.

DRIVER DECAPITATED AS CAR HITS FENCE Larue Vredenburg Skids to Death While Bride of Months Looks on.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 1.—Larue Vredenburg, aged 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vredenburg of Springfield, was instantly killed in the twenty-mile automobile race at the state fair grounds track last afternoon when a Standard Eight car he was driving plunged through the fence and he was decapitated.

Sitting in the grand amphitheater was his bride of but a few months. She fainted and was taken away in an ambulance.

The accident occurred when the cars, with Harry Oldfield leading, were on the eighth lap. As they swept around the west turn Vredenburg's car skidded and plunged through the fence, turning over. Vredenburg's body hit the top fence rail and was thrown several feet from where the car struck.

The fair officials called off the rest of the race.

FOUR KILLED, 19 HURT IN VANDERBILT CUP RACE

Chevrolet Ploughs Into Spectators, Mechanician Killed—Stone Plunges Off Bridge—Grant Wins Event in Record Time.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—This was the toll of the sixth running of the Vanderbilt cup race. The killed: Matthew R. Bacon, mechanician for Harold Stone, killed when Columbia car No. 12 plunged over bridge spanning Westbury road. Charles Miller, mechanician for Louis Chevrolet, killed when Chevrolet's car left the course and struck a touring car.

Ferdinand d'Subia, New York manager of Pope-Hartford Company, killed in early morning smash-up on way to the race.

Edward Lynch, run down and fatally injured after race; died tonight.

THE INJURED. Harold A. Stone, driver of the Columbia car; both legs broken; may die.

Mrs. Ferdinand d'Subia, both legs broken; condition critical.

William Knipper, driver Lancia car; broken leg.

V. Padula, driver Abbott-Detroit; killed.

James Nelson, mechanician for Arthur Chevrolet; leg broken.

Thomas Miller, struck by a Pope-Hartford car; skull fractured; injured internally; may die.

C. H. Kittrell, mechanician car No. 27, shock and contusions.

Charles Greenman, the Topik chauffeur; bruised.

Henry Haggard, spectator; hit by Dawson's car; condition serious.

Morris Levinson, spectator; struck by Knipper's car; leg broken.

Norman Reid, spectator; leg broken.

Mrs. Gutsis Heidmann, spectator; cut and bruised.

Mrs. Lillian Rees; arm broken.

Mrs. Martha Ross; cut and bruised.

Joseph ———, scalp wound.

William Peterson; knocked unconscious by flying tire.

Thomas Sommers and Edward H. Brown, injured in d'Subia accident.

LONG ISLAND MOTOR PARKWAY, Oct. 1.—Four dead and nineteen seriously injured—these probably fatal statistics in human flesh paid today for the sixth running of the Vanderbilt cup race, won by Harry Grant, driving a 120 horse power Alco.

Grant, who distinguished himself last year by finishing first in the fifth Vanderbilt, won today's event from Joe Dawson, driver of a Marmon, by the narrow margin of twenty-five seconds. John Aitken, in the National, was only a minute and six seconds behind Dawson.

The race was the most closely contested of any of the Vanderbilt cup races and with the two small car events run as a unit with it—the Wheatley Hills sweepstakes and the Massapequa trophy—brought out a record number of starters.

The time of the three first cars to finish in the main event exceeded the best time ever made in an American road race.

Grant, by covering the 25.08 miles of the course in 4 hours, 12 minutes, 56 seconds—equivalent to an average of 52.15 miles an hour—established a new American record. But brilliant as the performance of the three winners and thrilling as was the race itself, the horror caused by the wholesale maiming and killing which attended it cast such a deep shadow over the event, that the management of the race, participating in a moment of sorrow, dispersed under a pall of gloom.

Yet, notwithstanding the list of casualties, it was announced tonight that the grand prize race over the same course would be held on October 15th. Fifteen cars have already been entered for the event.

W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., donor of the Vanderbilt cup, could not be seen tonight, but A. R. Partington, vice president and general manager of the Motor Raceway, spoke of the race only as a success. He regretted, of course, the deaths and accidents, but was inclined to attribute them mainly to the carelessness of spectators.

ACCIDENTS SENSATIONAL. The accidents that caused two of the four deaths were sensational in the extreme. The first occurred when the Columbia car, driven by Harold Stone, suddenly burst a tire at the approach of the cement bridge crossing the Westbury road, and becoming unmanageable, plunged over the parapet. The great machine went over twice in air and landed on its side, crushing the life of Matthew R. Bacon, Stone's mechanician, who was caught under it. Stone himself sustained fractures of both legs and internal injuries from which it is doubtful if he will recover.

The killing of Charles Miller, came as the climax of a mad attempt of Chevrolet's driver to regain a lead lost through frequent magnets and tire trouble. The daring French driver, who earlier in the race had led off round after round at seventy-three miles an hour, struck a had rut while going with full power and landed on three wheels only. He then found the car skidding from side to side, unresponsive to its steering gear.

And the shrieks of horror from the hundreds assembled at the spot, the car plunged into the fence and swept away like so much paper, then plunged deep into a passenger laden touring car.

The occupants of the touring car were tossed high in the air, but all of them escaped death. Miller was caught in the wreckage and instantly killed. Chevrolet over his life to the possession of his steering wheel, upon which he kept a firm hold to the end. He was pulled out of the debris with nothing more serious than a broken arm.

The third death of the day did not occur on the course, but in an accident en route to the race. Ferdinand d'Subia, an automobile man, was the victim. His wife was seriously hurt, both legs being broken in the smashup. FORCED INTO DITCH. The horror of the Miller tragedy had hardly passed when word came that first the Lancia and then the Marquette car had left the road and brought up as scrap iron against telegraph poles, injuring all four occupants.

As if this were not enough, Joe Dawson, going like a cannon ball in car No. 7, ran full into a crowd that barred his way at the Westbury turn, and sped on, leaving an apparently lifeless body stretched across the road. This man was Henry Haggard, a clerk employed by a local automobile firm. He is believed to be a crowd that barred his way at the Westbury turn, and sped on, leaving an apparently lifeless body stretched across the road.

The strictest security concerning this sacrifice of human life was maintained by all the officials during the race as was the case last year. Today's race was run as a triple event, not only the cars for the Vanderbilt cup competing, but cars in two other detachments as well. This brought fifty-five machines on the course at once and contributed not a little to the slaughter.

The first of the two subsidiary events, the Wheatley Hills Sweepstakes, was won by J. F. Galloway, driving a Ford.

Of thirty-one cars which started in the Vanderbilt, ten were in the race when the officials declared the contest over. Those besides the first three were Dribrow's National, No. 31; Mulford's Lozier, No. 2; Fleming's Pope-Hartford, No. 17; Hearn's Benz, No. 7; Mitchell's Simplex, No. 11; Harding's Stoddard-Dayton, No. 12; and Onley's Pope-Hartford, No. 22, running in the order named.

The accident to Harold Stone was explained in whispers by the officials about the judges' stand, but was kept from those in the grandstand, where Stone's bride of a few weeks sat anxiously waiting his passing.

OTHER ACCIDENTS. The Abbott-Detroit No. 56 struck a telegraph pole, throwing out Driver V. Padula and Mechanician John Barber, and seriously injuring both. Padula's injuries are thought to be fatal.

Car No. 47, a Mercer, ran into a telegraph pole at Meadowbrook bridge and injured the mechanician, possibly fatally.

Car No. 17, rounding a turn at Westbury, struck a spectator, Thomas Miller of College Point, R. I. Miller was seriously injured. The car swept on without stopping.

No. 54, the Lancia, driven by William Knipper, turned over at the Massapequa ledge, and Knipper's left leg was broken. His mechanician was unharmed.

OTHER WINNERS. Massapequa trophy, run over ten laps of the course, 124.00 miles, was won by car No. 51, Cole, driven by William Endicott. Time, 2 hours, 18 minutes, 43.15 seconds.

The Wheatley Hills Sweepstakes, run over fifteen laps, or 159.00 miles of the course, was won by No. 45, Ford, driven by J. Galloway, in 2 hours, 15 minutes and 54.15 seconds. No. 4, Ford, driven by W. H. Pearce, was second.

Louis Chevrolet announced today that he would never race again. He is greatly grieved over the death of his mechanician.

SUGAR WEIGHERS GET PARDONS; AIDED STATE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—President Taft has pardoned Edward A. Boyie, John B. Cagle, Patrick J. Henratty and Thomas Kehoe, four sugar weighers who are serving sentences for connivance with the customs frauds at New York.

The President less than a month ago refused to pardon the men. Henry L. Silimann, special attorney for the government in charge of the customs prosecution, later made representations to the President that the four convicted men had given him valuable information which he used in the trials of Gerbraich and Hickey. The President reconsidered the case and pardoned the four men on Silimann's recommendation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The population of the territory of New Mexico to 277,336, an increase of 13,000 over the 1900 census. According to an announcement of Census Director Francis Taylor, this is an increase of 12,000 or 4.3 per cent over 1900. The census shows an increase of 27,000 or 24.6 per cent over the previous ten years.

WELCOME DANES

Fresno greets the national convention of the Danish Brotherhood. It is a signal recognition for Fresno to be chosen for such an honor, but it is a recognition due to the numbers and high quality of our Danish citizens. It seems at times almost strange to speak of the Danes as immigrants, and to commend their high qualities as an imported population. They are so much a part of us, and all so naturally their place as Americans, that we forget they were ever foreign. In fact, they are not. We are all Danes, or cousins of Danes, of an earlier or later importation, and whether it is the Northerners, who settled in France in the early ages and invaded England as Normans in 1066, or whether the descendants of Hengist and Horsa, who invaded England direct from the North, or the Angles and Jutes, cousins of the Danes, who were the original English or the Germans and the Franks, continental cousins of the same brotherhood, or whether, finally, it is the Danes from Modern Denmark, represented in this convention, we are all one people, and we all imagine that people is the salt of the earth. So we are proud to welcome the representatives of the organized Danish Brotherhood of the nation, as we are also proud of that portion of the Danish people who live among us all the time. If all our citizenship, native and immigrant, averaged up with the Danes, our problems would be few, simple and easy.

A FIENDISH OUTRAGE

The destruction of the office of the Los Angeles Times by dynamite, and the simultaneous attempts to destroy its auxiliary plant, the home of its proprietor, and the home of the president of the Merchants' Association by the same anarchist weapons, constitute one of the most fiendish outrages in the whole history of modern lawlessness. It is nothing to the point that the Times has sowed the seed and reaped the harvest of hatred. Hatred and bitterness are part of the price of human conflict, but dynamite is not. The bomb of the anarchist is not a weapon of civilization, and he who uses it or condones its use is beyond the pale of human sympathy. Also, he who uses it as an implement of industrial warfare is the chief enemy of the class on whose side he used it. The fools who were responsible for this outrage doubtless cherished the hallucination that they were hurting the Times and thereby helping the cause of unionism. Instead they have helped the Times; they have given it a new weapon against unionism, and they have set back, probably for years, the task of unionizing Los Angeles. The only harm they have done is to the poor fellows they killed and maimed. Six months' profit of the Times will cover the money loss, and this incident will probably increase its revenues by at least that amount. The Times will continue its warfare on union labor and the mouths of its opponents will be largely closed against it. The things that have been said against the Times are no less true now, but in this emergency it is no longer really to say them. He who is compelled to fight dynamite bombs must have the support or the silence of all honest men, during the fight, regardless of how wrong he may be on anything else.

This is not to hold the labor unions responsible for this outrage. They are not responsible, and must not be held responsible, even if it should turn out that the individual miscreants are members or former members of some union. No union, and no intelligent union man, would plot or condone such an outrage. Least of all would the typographical union, the most intelligent and peaceful of all unions, have anything to do with it. The typographical union stands for industrial peace. Its policy is even against strikes, and in such strikes as it has had, it has never resorted nor countenanced the resort to violence. Any insinuation that any union, in its organized capacity, or any responsible union men, could have perpetrated this crime, may simply be dismissed off-hand, as the product of spleen and malice.

But also it must be evident that this outrage was not the act of some individual maniac. It was done by fools, but not by lunatics. All the signs point to a systematic, carefully planned conspiracy, such as insane men are not capable of. It is a terrible crime, or which somebody, probably several persons, are guilty. Some of these persons may have been deluded men. Whoever they were, the unions should be among the first, as the San Francisco Labor Council was the very first, to offer rewards and personal assistance toward ferreting them out. And, if any murderer should turn out to be a member of some particular union, that union should first expel him, and then take upon its own treasury the burden of any extra cost of prosecuting him, and seeing that he is caught. For it is against that union that his crime is a most serious directed blow. It is a terrible thing—one of the worst that ever happened in California. The blot of it will not be washed out for many a day. And nothing but the absolute co-operation of all good citizens, especially of those who are friendly to the Times or its policy, will wash it out at all.

NEEDHAM

Congressman Needham's speech at Reedley last night should go a long way toward dispelling any delusions which hasty judgment or malicious misrepresentation may have instilled in some quarters. There was never any basis for the delusion and we do not believe it was ever very widespread, but it has been acute in some spots, and just because it was unjust, it was worth removing.

Mr. Needham has represented this district well, capably and progressively. He has done the old duties well, and is in full accord with the modern spirit and the new duties. That modern spirit, as it has spread among us, has taught a broader and more national view of the protective tariff. But it has not taught an anti-protective view. The sober judgment of the people of this district all agree with Mr. Needham's view of the tariff, and nearly all of it commends his services in respect to the tariff. None of the sentiment of this district is in accord with the position which the Democratic candidate would have to take, or help Congress to take, if he were elected. Mr. Needham has rendered invaluable services to the protective tariff, and if his views had prevailed in regard to the general features of the tariff bill, the principle of protection would not now be menaced by the unpopularity of certain schedules in the bill. Mr. Needham, having rendered the practical service, also frankly discusses the issues. His opponent avoids the whole tariff question, and could render no substantial services. Every one of the reasons which made this district Republican still obtains, to keep it Republican. And we make no doubt that it will signify its consistency, as well as its loyal appreciation of good service well performed, by loyally returning Hon. J. C. Needham to Congress.

SOME SHOP TALK

The Republican wishes to take its readers into its confidence, and have a little family "shop talk." At this writing it is not yet certain whether today's Republican can be delivered to all its readers on time or not, though extra crews have been working all day and all night at top speed in a desperate endeavor to do so. The present probability is that some out-of-town subscribers who are usually served by very early morning trains will have to wait for later ones. And it would not be fair to conceal the probability that the same thing may happen for the next two or three Sundays, though the most strenuous efforts will be made to prevent it if possible.

The truth is that the Republican has simply outgrown its present plant, and that the fall rush of business has overtaken us before it was possible to get the new plant in running order. The mechanical departments of the paper are confronted with a task greater than they are able to handle. All the men and all the machinery that the present building can hold, working all day and all night, are unable to guarantee that up-to-the-second promptness which is the standard exacted of the newspaper business (and of no other). When the present press was installed, five years ago, it was the biggest and fastest in the interior of California, and everybody supposed that it would be adequate for twenty years. Now it is swamped with more work than it can do, and a crew of men is at work erecting a new one, of four times the capacity, in the new building. The seven linotypes in the present building are being worked to capacity, and an extra one has been rigged up in the new building. All the compositors who can stand up before all the typesetters than can be placed in the present quarters are working, day and night crews, to rush out work, and a big mailing crew pushes the papers into the mailbags as fast as what has always been regarded as a fast press can deliver them. This press prints three papers a second, sixteen pages at once, but it is entirely inadequate to the demands on it. So the paper is simply "up against it" and makes this detailed statement to its readers that they may understand the difficulties.

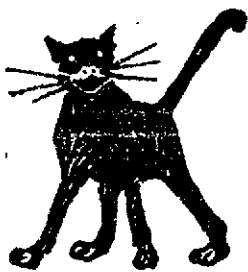

A large crew of men is rushing the new building to completion, and other crews are installing machinery in that building as fast as the rooms are made ready for it. By the time the editor moves over his pencil and pad of paper, the equipment of the more important mechanical departments will be already transferred. A new press, weighing sixty tons, and printing twelve papers a second, of sixteen-page size, or twice as many or eight-page size, will have been installed, at a cost of $25,000. There will be plenty of linotypes, plenty of type and plenty of room, in the best composing room in California.

So the Republican is doing the best it can, and is spending $100,000 and rushing double crews on a stop-watch schedule to do better. Let readers have a little patience. The Republican is anxious, too—enough $100,000 worth

ANOTHER RECORD

Breaking its own records (there are no others to break) is so common a thing for the Republican that there is very little excitement about it. However, today's record is interesting. The largest amount of advertising ever printed by the Republican before was on a Sunday just before Christmas last year, when in a 22-page paper, there were 149 columns of advertising. Today, the first Sunday in October, and therefore long before the Christmas rush, there are 22 pages containing 163 columns of advertising. And the only reason there is not a lot more advertising is the absolute physical impossibility of getting it into the paper. What couldn't be got in simply had to be left out. Probably the season's record has not been reached yet, but it will take new machinery to handle anything bigger. Today's record is the absolute maximum that can be stuffed into the biggest paper that the present press, on a "double run" can handle.

DENY LABOR UNION THEORY OF CRIME

Leaders Country Over Repudiate Charges of Responsibility.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 1.—The first disavowal of labor union responsibility for the Times dynamite explosion from the strike committee of the Metal Trades, the members of which have been on strike for some months, and between which organization and the Times there has been great bitterness, LYNN REYNOLDS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 1.—President James M. Lynch of the International Typographical Union, made the following statement today relative to the explosion which wrecked the plant of the Los Angeles Times:

"The International Typographical Union is not a dynamiting institute; its record of more than sixty years' existence is an honorable one and on fire free from resort to violence of any kind. It has won its cause and reached its present position of strength and influence solely through the justice of its contentions and the lawful and orderly manner in which its aims have been prosecuted and made effective.

"No one regrets the Times catastrophe more than I do, and especially the loss of life following the explosion. On the other hand, we are determined to protect ourselves against the opportunity that will be embraced by General Otis and his subordinates to attempt to fasten the explosion on the trades unions. Today I caused to be sent to our representatives in Los Angeles the following telegram:

"In conjunction with the president and board of trustees of No. 174, take such measures as may appear necessary to protect the International Typographical Union and local union from any charge of complicity with alleged dynamiting of Times office. Press reports convince us explosion was caused by faulty gas mains and due

ROSE STAHL GREETED BY CORDIAL AUDIENCE

Captivating as Ever in Her Inseparable Roll of Chorus Lady.

An unusually responsive audience greeted Rose Stahl last night at the first of her two-night engagement at the Barton Opera House and followed her enthusiastically from the minute she came on in the first act with a rollicking "hoo-noo," through her lines to the last curtain drop. Her chorus girl sang was irresistible and real after play of laughter rang through the house.

The story is generally known of the fine, unselfish girl, who in her loyalty to her young sister, permits herself to stand compromised until the denouement when all is made right and all are happy, and in principle makes the listener realize that the chorus girl's life is not all smiles. To quote the lines of the play, "It isn't hard to dance, it's the smile that's the hard part." Miss Stahl as Patricia O'Brien plays his Irish role well and became good humorously when Patricia O'Brien (Rose Stahl) cries ecstatically, "Ah! he grand!"

Interest centers in the second act, where the public takes a peep into the mysterious life behind the curtain. Miss Stahl outdid herself and received many curtain calls. The sympathy of the audience is with Mrs. O'Brien (Alice Leigh) when she hesitates to believe what is suspected of her daughter.

While Miss Stahl holds the center of the stage all the time that she is on, she is admirably supported. The play was brought to Fresno last winter and those who saw it again last night enjoyed it quite as thoroughly as they did the first time they saw it.

Legend of the Opal

October's Birthstone

A sunbeam lingered under a leaf in the forest at sunset, until the moon suddenly rose. Enraptured with the shimmering beauty of a moonbeam, he stood entranced. In ecstasy he met, embraced and kissed, while the sun sank and left him in her arms.

The opal is the child of their love. In its fair face is forever mingled the silver of the rising moon and the golden glory of the sunset.

Facts About Your Teeth

Told by DRs. FREE, CARMICHAEL & FREE

Defective teeth are the rule rather than the exception with a majority of people and it is only by diligent attention and proper care of the teeth that their serviceability can be retained. Through the many discoveries in modern dentistry, the preservation of the natural teeth has become an art, and it rests with the individual entirely whether, with the aid of a skillful dentist, the usefulness of the natural teeth shall be prolonged almost indefinitely, or whether these, one of nature's most important organs, shall, through neglect and decay, become a source of care, worry and physical affliction for their owner.

We have been engaged in the practice of dentistry for sixteen years, over half of which has been here in Fresno. Our long experience and our constant diligence in keeping abreast of all advances and discoveries in the dental world has given us a knowledge and skill that enables us to execute dental work of any description in a manner not surpassed by any one. This statement any of our hundreds of satisfied patients will vouch for. We can refer you to them if you have not heretofore consulted us, yet wish advanced assurance of the superior character of our work.

The health of the body is so dependent upon perfect teeth health that if your teeth are not in a sound and wholesome condition, you should lose no time in consulting us in regard to the correction of your teeth troubles. The trite saying of "a stitch in time saves nine" is quite applicable to tooth troubles, for a filling today will save a toothache tomorrow.

In the matter of fillings, which is one of the principal methods employed for saving decaying teeth, we have recently introduced for the first time in this field a new plastic porcelain compound, also gold inlay fillings. These are admittedly the most desirable methods of filling teeth known to dentistry, and by coming to us you are assured of their employment in a skillful and satisfying manner.

Tooth neglect is of course the chief cause for the loss of teeth. No attempt having been made to arrest the decaying process it makes such headway that, in due time, extraction is necessary. Missing teeth are replaced in the ordinary dental way by means of bridges or plate work. In the modern or advanced school, the most approved means employed for replacing lost teeth is the Alveolar Method, sometimes known as the no-plate method. We were the first to introduce this method in this field. If you have two or more teeth remaining in the jaw, we can furnish you with new teeth, made of porcelain and gold, without the use of a plate or bridge. If the natural teeth left in the jaw are loose we can tighten them, and the entire work will result in giving you a sound and durable set of teeth quite as good as nature's best. "Our handsome new, illustrated booklet entitled 'Our Method of Supplying Teeth Without a Plate,' explains the Alveolar work in detail. It will be sent free on request or you can call personally and we will gladly explain the advantages not alone of our Alveolar Method, but also our many other advanced methods of dentistry. Bear in mind that there is no charge whatever for consultation and examination, nor does it place you under any obligations to have us do any work for you. That is all a matter of your pleasure. You will always find our charges most reasonable, no more than you will be glad and willing to pay for high grade work such as all of ours is.

What Every Woman Should be Glad to Know

The Woman Gardener

Now's the Time to Start Plants for Next Year

THIS is "catalogue weather" for the woman who makes her own garden. With a pile of catalogues at her elbow and seated in a comfortable chair, she may leisurely go over the books and decide what she will buy in the way of plants and seeds to set out now for next year's blooming. There is scarcely a place in the garden that a group of the white or madonna lilies would not adorn. And right now is the time to plant the bulbs. Fairly good soil is needed and a location inclined to be moist, but well drained. The ground should be worked a foot or more deep, and if it is poor manure may be worked in deep so it will lie below the bulbs and not come in contact with them.

The bulbs should be planted at least four inches deep, and the bed may be covered with a light coat of manure as a mulch. Considerable growth will be made in the fall, and next spring and early summer the plants will produce beautiful, fragrant white flowers on stalks three or four feet high. After flowering the plants die down and remain dormant until beginning new growth in the autumn. An established clump should not be disturbed until the plants show weakness or disease.

The gardener, too, who wants to have her own pansy plants next spring should get busy and sow the seeds in September and transplant the seedlings to cold frames with good soil. Here they may remain until cold weather, when they should be protected with glass and boards. If kept in a cold frame during the winter they must be given fresh air frequently.

Hollyhocks, larkspurs, columbines, Canterbury bells and perennial poppies may be started from seed at this season and kept during the winter without cold frames by having the seed raised so as to insure perfect drainage and mulching the plants with coarse litter just before cold weather.

If you wish to have a strawberry bed which will give a crop next year get small potted plants now from the florist and set them in a bed which has been well worked. Cultivation should follow plantings several times, then the plants may be mulched for the winter. A full crop should be produced at the usual season next year, whereas if you waited until next spring you would get no fruit until the following year.

When the garden space is limited and is taken up with flowering plants seeds may be successfully developed in boxes if the latter are kept in the same condition as a garden—that is, out of doors, exposed to sun and wind.

Why Hats Are Fabulously Expensive

THE new hats are high, not only in actual measurement, but the milliner sends in a proportionately high bill for her creations. The question has been asked a thousand times by astonished husbands who pay these bills how it is possible to put such a price on a hat. For the milliner's wife pays anywhere from $25 to $200 for her chapeau, and the wife not in the money class tries to keep pace with her more fortunate sister.

Now about the price of hats. In the first place the plain hat of the expensive sort is imported from Paris and costs the milliner from $10 to $25 as against $2 to $10 only ten years ago. This hat, though it follows the prevailing fashion and though this fashion may be ridiculous in the extreme, is nevertheless artistic in line and general form.

Perhaps it is desirable to make the hat a color to match madame's frock. The artist milliner has in her employ a Frenchman whose business it is to color hats any shade or tint. He brings his dyes from Paris, and no American can do this work. And his salary is a large one.

The trimmings and materials for this hat are of course imported also. A seven-dollar dollar imported feather may be the principal part of the trimming. Perhaps on a green ground it is decided that pink and blue roses will harmonize best with the wearer's outfit. If these colors are not in stock milliner brings out his dye pots and gets to work. Then one has to pay for the art of the milliner in combining the nuances. And it is a Frenchwoman in the best establishments, too, who does the work on small hats and toques. She has been a worker for one of the famous firms in Paris—for Charlotte possibly, or Georgette or Camille Roger. If her specialty is the sailor hat she has probably been with Marie Louise.

The two hats illustrated are charming Parisian models that are not extreme, but at the same time are very chic. One of the creations is of old rose velvet trimmed with dark bronze green coq plumes. And the other hat is one of the new soft fluffy felt shapes. It is bound with velvet and has a mount of choice coq feathers in front.

LATE MODELS FROM PARIS.

Walking Good For Women

A girl in making ready for her afternoon tramp over the hills should wear a one-piece costume, blue serge being one of the best materials, made with a natty blouse and a short skirt. Of course when the weather is cold a jacket has to be added. High button shoes are the best for walking, as they protect the ankles. The hair should be neatly done up so that stray locks do not make the patient nervous, for it must be remembered that the walk is taken for the health, with nerves not in the picture. A small close fitting hat or an automobile bonnet is a sensible head protection.

AS SHE HOBBOLES, BOBBLES AND WABBLES ON FIFTH AVENUE

HOBBLE, hobble, though with toll and trouble, but what matters it, says the wearer of the freakish hobble skirt, of their strollers and say that the "exotic" fashion" came from New York. Gotham dressmakers suggested the idea and asked Parisian manufacturers to turn the skirts out for sale in this country.

The Parisians insist that they protested against such a skirt, but yielded to the dollars that were flashed before their eyes. The Parisians now say that the skirt is not fashionable. They point to the race courses and promenades in France, insisting that the hobble is not found there.

One might just as well ask a pretty girl to wear a mask as a "hobble." It changes the gait, causes a stoop and is a costly, unnecessary and ugly creation that ought to have been kept in the attic of the Rue de la Paix.

And there is another side to the hobble skirt question. How is it going to affect the great problem of the hour—woman's suffrage? The movement means a complete tieup for the suffragettes. The speed of suffragette parades will be cut down to such a low rate that all public officials will have ample time to make a very comfortable getaway from the rear entrance of their official homes and escape to some soda fountain long before the head of the column has reached the front door, and the leading ladies will have to spring their assortment of well chosen demands on a few empty official chairs.

Then the rush will be over, and that is how the blow will fall.

There is the domestic side of the situation. The fashionable maidservant upon being asked why she stayed out after 10 o'clock has a perfect and inalienable right to say:

"I'm sorry, ma'am. It's the fault of this new skirt. I had to take such small steps that it took longer than I expected."

Now, what do you think of that, Mrs. Housekeeper?

The latest hobble historians blame the famous old green umbrella of Horace Greeley and his manner of carrying the rain protector—ferrule side up—and its front-frou of surplus sections caught in a foot from the tieup band as its inspiration. So it does look as if America is to be saddled with the hobble idea, doesn't it?

Women have been dressed so impossibly the past year that perhaps this mode will be the grand crescendo of things.

Wait, too, until Teddy has time to attend to it, and then—

Whiz, bang, out it goes!

CATHERINE TALBOT.

Try a "Peach Roosevelt"

It Will Be One of Your Busy Days If You Do

"Peach Roosevelt" how does that sound for a dessert? It has just been invented by a cooking expert.

"Peach Roosevelt" is made with fresh peaches. To prepare this palatable treat properly select the largest and finest freestone peaches you can buy. They must be wholly ripe, but not too soft. Wash and pare them and cut in halves, removing the stones. Then in the place originally occupied by the stone put a tablespoonful of chocolate ice cream in which is imbedded a blanched almond. Almonds are blanched by soaking them in hot water for a few minutes, then peeling off the brown skin.

Press the two halves of each peach firmly together. Have ready a saucer of vanilla ice cream. Place the peach in this and with a knife smooth the cream all round the peach, making a covering half an inch thick, or thicker if desired.

Quickly wrap in waxed paper or cheesecloth, place in mold or ice cream can and keep packed two hours in crushed ice and salt. When ready to serve remove from paper or cheesecloth and sprinkle crushed macaroons over the top.

The main thing to remember in making the "Peach Roosevelt" is to do the work quickly.

What to Make With Oranges

ORANGE OMELET.

TWO oranges, four eggs, five tablespoonsful of sugar, a little salt and two tablespoonsful of butter. Beat the whites of the eggs stiff, add two tablespoonsful of orange juice, the sugar, salt and beaten yolks. Put the butter in a pan and turn in this mixture. When it begins to thicken spread in the orange sliced, very thin, no juice, fold over the omelet, take out on a large platter, set in the oven one minute and serve immediately.

ORANGE CREAM.

One cup of orange juice, three eggs, two tablespoonsful of flour, one cup of sugar and the grated rind of an orange. Beat the yolks of the eggs until creamy, then add the sugar, orange juice, flour and the grated rind of the oranges. Mix together well. Line medium sized pie plate with paste, turn in the orange filling and bake in a moderate oven until thick as custard and the paste is well browned. Beat the whites of the eggs with seven tablespoonsful of sugar until very stiff, spread on the pie and return to the oven until a delicate brown. Serve hot or cold.

ORANGE CREAM CUSTARD.

Mix one cup of sugar with two and three-quarters cups of hot water, set on the fire, add the juice of two oranges, one lemon, a lump of butter, the yolks of two eggs beaten with a tablespoonful of cold water and stirred in slowly, then add one and a half tablespoonsful of cornstarch moistened with two tablespoonsful of water. Stir until smooth and creamy. Serve cold.

ORANGE CREAM CAKE.

Cream together one-half a cupful of butter and one and three-fourths of a cup of sugar, add three eggs, the yolks and whites beaten separately, two cups of flour sifted with two teaspoonsful of baking powder and one cupful of milk. Bake in two layers with the following frosting between: The yolks of one egg beaten, to which add a little orange juice and enough powdered sugar to taste and to make it thick enough.

Table Linen Up to Date.

In the new table linen tablecloths with designs are taking second place. The newest cloth is a plain white damask with a six inch satin border with large monograms embroidered in diagonal corners at opposite ends. The advantage of these plain cloths is that they show off the beauty of centerpieces and dollies, having no pattern to distract the attention. Striped cloths are also favorites; either plain or with large flowers scattered over the satin lengths and forming the borders. The poppy and ball pattern is one of the new ones, also the ball and bow-knot.

The round cloths with scalloped edges and napkins to match are much used, the only difficulty being in laundering them at home so they will lie flat on the table.

Madeira work in centerpieces, dollies and cloths has ousted lace from popularity. Cloths having the centers embroidered need no centerpiece and are used on polished tables without any undercloth. But lace cloths of the cluny, alet and venetian variety are very beautiful and still hold their own for ceremonial occasions.

The large dinner napkin is still used at dinners, but the next size is quite as popular. Luncheon napkins are hem-stitched with narrow hems and are small, designed to be used only once.

NEW MATERIAL FOR FALL SUIT.

A new material coming in for the fall is expected to have a great run in hand-made tailors' shops. The material is smooth and glossy in appearance, with a silky nap that is unlike shal-lon or camel hair, being cut very short, but suggestive of them. It is very light of weight and supple, as befits the fabric of the day, and will be provided in all colors.

A New Era In Kitchen And Household Inventions

THE housekeeper who does not keep up with the times in kitchen and other household belongings would have opened her eyes with astonishment could she have seen the display of new things at the household show recently held at the Madison Square Garden, in New York city. At every turn one saw wonderful improvements on the original vacuum cleaner, and more within

When such a floor is not in good condition the finest furniture does not show to advantage. Every housewife knows only too well what to expect when furniture is to be moved, for many a handsome floor has been scratched and scarred and many a floor covering ruined as the result of the passage over it of hard-soled casters. These new softly covered casters are more expensive than the panel effect that is so effective in hall, dining room or library. With one application of stain it can be made to match any shade of oak. Its cost is about one-fifth of wood, and it is cheaply put on the wall.

What would the old fashioned housewife think of a sink and wash tub all in one? Such a space saver she probably would scorn, saying: "In my day a sink and some wooden tubs were good to be done at the same time, this invention has its special good points. Ironing, too, is made easy with an electric iron that heats in less than four minutes and requires no stand, as the usual electric iron does. When necessary to move the garment being manipulated all one has to do is to tip the iron back until it rests on end of handle. The current is turned off from the iron, which obviates the trouble of raising the arm to the cock attached to the lighting apparatus above.

How tired we all become of bakers' bread if we have to depend upon it constantly for sustenance! The cry is, though, "Bread is so hard to mix." It used to be, but it isn't now if you get one of the new bread mixers that are so constructed that from one to eight loaves may be mixed with practically no exertion. The mixer is in two pieces of metal and is therefore easily and simply cleaned. In the process of mixing the dough the blade turns in such a way that it forces the moisture into every particle of flour, twisting and pulling it so as to allow the air to get under and into the dough, which develops 100 per cent of gluten from any good flour.

One might go on enumerating the "good things" at the show for hours without exhausting the supply, but mention must be made of the new milk churn which does the work of butter-making in one minute and of the pulley line for clothes that is arranged inside the window. A comfort it is in the timid woman who dreads leaning out the window and a great protection to her in cold weather.

DAPHNE DEAN.

A FEW OF THE LATEST INVENTIONS.

the reach of the average housewife's pocketbook was a dustless duster. With this square of what looked like black cheesecloth you can polish furniture, metal, cut glass and even your shoes if you feel so inclined. The cloth is treated with some kind of chemicals, and it retains its properties after being thoroughly washed. It is very sanitary, as not an atom of dust escapes while using the duster. There is, too, a brush cover of this chemically prepared material that ties over soft shoe and wall brooms. And speaking of floors there is a new castor for furniture wheels that will not scratch the most delicate hardwood carpet.

In most homes of today one finds beautiful hardwood floors with a rug here and there to intensify the rich effect and give tone to the furnishings.

enough for me. It's nonsensical, all these newfangled things." But is it? Not nowadays. When domestic science has made such strides and has become a recognized profession that is taught all over the country and in most women's colleges. Well, for the woman who welcomes innovations in her kitchen there is the combination sink, drainboard and wash tub. For apartment kitchens, where space is at a premium and getting about on wash day a problem when the cooking has

"Fresno's Greatest Jewelry Sensation"

Tuesday, October 4th at 9 a. m. we commence our Second Annual Clearance Sale of high grade jewelry, silverware, cut glass, watches, clocks, etc. Our store will be closed all day Monday in order that we may mark down the thousands of pieces of fine jewelry, etc., that comprises our immense stock this year. It will be a sale full of surprises and sensations, far exceeding any jewelry sale ever attempted before in Fresno or elsewhere.

"If You Miss It
You'll Miss It"

Once a year we hold these clearance sales in order to dispose of present stocks, so that we will have plenty of room to accommodate holiday goods, which will soon make their appearance. The high character of the class of jewelry we carry needs no further elucidation here, as our reputation as high class jewelry merchants is second to none. We only want to say that quality will be strictly maintained during this sale, and no cheap goods will be offered you.

The Last, Biggest and Best Show of the Season, "Buffalo Bill," Positively Bids You Good-Bye.

BUFFALO BILL'S FAREWELL EXHIBITION

TO THE PUBLIC:

AFTER MANY YEARS of almost constant devotion to my calling, I have determined to retire from active service at the expiration of a final and complete tour of the American continent. THEREFORE, following a series of "Farewell Exhibitions" which I hope to give in 1910 and 1911, I shall permanently abandon the arena, and seek to enjoy some of the fruits of my labors, which I feel that I have well earned during a long life of activity on the frontier, in the field during the Civil and Indian Wars, and as a provider of the most approved drama of our National History.

IT IS, however, my earnest desire to once more salute from the saddle my millions of friends and patrons, and I take this opportunity to emphatically state that this will be my LAST, SOLE AND ONLY PROFESSIONAL APPEARANCE in the cities and towns nominated in the present itinerary, as it is my purpose to leave the active management of the great Educational Exhibition, which I have created, in the hands of my partner, Major G. W. Little (Pawnee Bill), and his associates, who will continue the enterprise on the same magnificent scale and true fidelity that I have always tried to maintain, but without my personal presence in the saddle.

AND NOW that I have reached this unalterable conclusion, I want to thank my numerous friends and the public for the full measure of success and applause that they have bestowed upon me, and I know of no honor that I shall cherish more than their good wishes, while the silent years are lurking in ambush for "The Old Scout," and at the conclusion of each and every performance I shall bid my numerous friends a fond farewell.

Yours, always sincerely,
W. F. Cody

POLICE OFFICERS MAY BE PAID BY COUNTY

Important Decision Handed Down By Superior Judge Austin.

City police officers who go out of the county, or outside of their place of residence, to arrest parties under arrest on felony charges, may do so and be compensated for their labor by the county in which they reside, according to a decision handed down yesterday by Judge Austin in the Superior Court.

Judge Austin's decision was on a suit brought by Ben Drenth of the Fresno police department against the county of Fresno. Drenth went to Bakersfield some time ago to get a man under arrest there on a felony warrant and when he presented a claim to the city council it was turned down. Some time before that Charles Farnam, also of the Fresno police department, went to San Bernardino to get two men and a claim presented by him to the city council, at the same time the claim was presented by Drenth, was also turned down. The officers were informed that the county should pay for all felony cases.

The claims were taken to the board of supervisors and were then turned down also, whereupon Drenth and Farnam united and brought one suit against the county in Drenth's name. The case was argued yesterday morning before Judge Austin, after which he gave the decision as stated. City Attorney N. R. Kauter represented Drenth while Assistant District Attorney Munson F. McCornick represented the county of Fresno.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES ARE EXCEEDINGLY OPTIMISTIC

Mason's Support Increasing Daily; Coalinga Now Favoring Him.

Friends of Ernest Klette Much Pleased; McNeil and Ochs Stronger.

The Fresno county fair will be the scene of much political activity this week on the part of Republican and Democratic candidates alike. Not only will it be the scene of much activity because of the fact that Theodore A. Bell, J. C. Needham and A. L. Coalinga will be there, but also because at this time local candidates will take opportunity to circulate among their friends from the country districts who will flock in and endeavor to secure votes.

The candidates of both parties are planning to go out in force and work with people at the fair in a quiet way. As the campaign progresses, the strength of Mr. Mason of Fowler, the Republican nominee for sheriff, is steadily increasing and on all sides may be heard favorable comments regarding his prospects. Friends of Mason have been particularly active during the past week in the city at Fresno and through their efforts, scores of doubtful votes have been turned to the Republican candidate.

Mason is exceedingly enthusiastic over his prospects, and although he states that he feels certain victory is his, he announces that he will redouble his efforts between now and election in order to make the majority as large as possible.

The McGowan support, which was very evident during the primary campaign and during the first part of the present campaign, is apparently dwindling away, for his candidacy is much less discussed now than that of Mason. Where former McGowan supporters are being silent, Mason supporters are springing up in all parts of the city and they are active supporters.

Coalinga, which was considered a McGowan stronghold for some time, is rapidly swinging into line behind Mason and friends of the Fowler candidate assert that strength which up to a week or so ago, was either opposed to him or silent, is now in the ranks of the Mason phalanx.

Mason has been handicapped in his campaign during the past few days owing to illness in his family, and the death of a relative of his, a 2-year-old boy, in Fowler on Friday. Although he has been kept at home and has been unable to get out to any extent, his friends are continuing the fight that he started.

Friends of Ernest Klette, who have been working industriously in all parts of the county in his behalf, announce that support for him is much more pronounced than it has been at any time since Klette announced his intention of being a candidate for the office. Many and varied influences are working in different localities which are rapidly bearing fruit and at the present time, the outlook for the election of the Republican nominee for district attorney is exceedingly bright.

Reports of his growing strength have not been received from one part of the county alone but from all parts, indicating a great change in the sentiment expressed in the past. Klette is very much gratified with the situation as it now stands, for all indications point quickly to the fact that he is fast gaining strength.

MAKING QUIET CAMPAIGN. The candidacy of R. N. Barstow for county recorder is being exploited with much diligence throughout the county, although in a quiet way, but there is no doubt expressed but that he will be elected by a safe majority. Regarding Barstow's candidacy, the Woman News says:

"Fresno county needs officials of the high caliber of R. N. Barstow. Its citizens can do no better than to return him to office with a large majority. It would be a compliment to him if the voters of the land of Kernan would cast a solid vote for their fellow citizen."

OCHS OPTIMISTIC. W. J. Ochs, the Republican candidate for supervisor from the fourth district, has received many encouraging reports regarding his candidacy which have filled him with much hope. Ochs visited Fowler, Selma and Kingsburg last week and announced afterward that he could see nothing to it, he stated that there seemed to be some prejudice against a man from Coalinga in that part of the country, but that the people there are beginning to understand that this prejudice is unjustified.

Even if a man from Coalinga should be inclined to slight any part of the district, Ochs declares that it would be absolutely impossible for him to do so under the law.

"If elected, I will give every part of my district an absolutely square deal," declared Ochs.

At this state of the campaign, the election of W. J. Chandler, an assemblyman from the sixth district, seems to be assured. That portion of the sixth district in Fresno will be overwhelmingly for Chandler, according to conservative reports which are being made, while Chandler's close connection with the oil industry of Coalinga has already insured him the bulk of the vote from that section. He is expected to break about even with Gallaher in the latter's home town also because of the personal friends which he has there. Gallaher's addresses thus far in his candidacy have been discursive of national issues while matters pertaining to the sixth assembly district have been left unmentioned by him and as a result, Chandler has received a great deal of benefit.

The past two weeks have sprung some surprises in the fight for supervisor in the first district and Al McNeil, the Republican nominee, who is opposing Jorgensen, is developing an amazing amount of strength. It was stated yesterday that a number of former Jorgensen supporters have turned to McNeil and are now industriously working in his behalf and the support which is now pledged to him is much more than even his most ardent supporters hoped to have at this time.

You Owe It to Yourself to Do a Little Comparing

Kutner's have studied the clothing situation; they think they know a little about this branch of the business; if they weren't convinced that many men are paying excessive prices for clothes then this costly advertising would have little chance of success.

But doing well was never sufficient for any man who had progress for his middle name. It's only live fish that swim up stream. It is only by seeking out the fountain head that we find the source of under buying—and under buying permits of underselling, and with this as our reason why, we tell you to do a little comparing, then we eventually expect you to be a Kutner customer. Sooner or later (and this isn't a threat) only an awakening on your part, you'll find out the logic of our position.

The new Fall and Winter Clothing, in all the leading fabrics, from staunch old sturdy worsteds to rough Bannockburn suitings and brown diagonals— you'll find this showing to be as extensive as any in Fresno.

Hannan Shoes For Men

City stores, stores in high rent districts want $6.00 to $8.50 for Hannan Shoes. We sell them for $5.50 and make the same profit. Here the consumer can save if he is a man who cares to save, and most men do care.

Hannan Shoes have a world-wide reputation—and we have sold them in Fresno for the past 20 years.

John B. Stetson Stiff Hats

$4.50

Light weight, flexible, of finest stock—It's no trick to go into any store and pay $5.00 for a Stetson hat—most men do this very thing. $4.50, our price, brings hundreds of men to our department who value the saving—and find no gasser way of profiting than by coming to a department store for their wants.

Men's Munsing Union Suits

The kind you see advertised in the magazines. It's made up in Minneapolis, right next door to the Minnesota sheep ranges, with the cheap power from the fine water falls at their feet. Isn't it but natural that good underwear should be the result of so many natural advantages.

Munsing Union Suits are fine in quality, non-irritating, always perfect fitting—$1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $3.00 and $4.00.

Faultless Night and Day Shirts

What you wear during the night is just as important as what you wear during the day.

Discriminating men who value their comfort and want to get the most out of their night's rest, wear Faultless Nightwear, the world's standard for nearly thirty years.

FRESNO FAIR TO OPEN TOMORROW; WILL ECLIPSE ALL FORMER ONES

Neighboring Towns Give Hearty Co-operation and Will Send Exhibits and Large Delegations; Many Original Features Are Secured.

The gates of the Fresno fair open tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. This is the first fair that Fresno has ever had that neighboring cities such as Coalinga, Inland, Fowler, Lemoore, Madera, Reedley, Sanger and Selma have ever taken a concerted part of in exhibiting.

This is the first time in the history of the San Joaquin valley that all of her varied industries will be exhibited at the same time and at the same place, and though some of the adjacent cities may be pined at Fresno's success, it yet remains a fact that Fresno is the best town in the San Joaquin valley that has attempted such an enterprise.

The reason for this is most auspicious, because of the fact that the French Brotherhood of America holds its annual convention during all of these weeks on the same days and dates of the Fresno fair, October 2-8. Fresno is known far and wide for her benevolence, and inasmuch as the certain day (Wed., Oct. 2) has been designated as "Coalinga-Fresno-Fowler Order Day," it goes without saying that this sentiment will prevail throughout the city, and in all cases it should be because of the fact that the French Brotherhood of America is to be in Fresno, not only on that date, but during the whole week.

On this account it is confidently hoped that very many of the local fraternal orders will turn out in parade on Wednesday, and make that day one long to be remembered in Fresno. Drills by the men's and women's teams of the fraternal orders of the city will be one of the main features of the day's doings.

Fresno has kept her word in the matter of exhibiting for the coming week. It is to be said that the French Brotherhood of America has been a most successful one in the past. The biggest ever. There has been nothing to mar the bright prospects of the coming Fresno fair, and these are the reasons it promises to be the best that has ever been held in the San Joaquin valley, and that it should be the most successful in the history of the valley.

1st—Because of the fact that every town making a town exhibit is trying to attract the French Brotherhood with the hope of capturing its members or their friends as citizens.

2nd—Because of the fact that the French Brotherhood of America is to be in Fresno, not only on that date, but during the whole week.

3rd—Because of the fact that the French Brotherhood of America is to be in Fresno, not only on that date, but during the whole week.

4th—Because of the fact that the French Brotherhood of America is to be in Fresno, not only on that date, but during the whole week.

5th—Because of the fact that the French Brotherhood of America is to be in Fresno, not only on that date, but during the whole week.

tempted only once before in the United States. It may be truthfully said that the Fresno fair of 1909 was the best that this valley has ever had, and every day this week, is so far different from anything ever before attempted in this valley, that it stands within a class of its own.

SCENE OF ACTIVITY.
The fair grounds are now with all kinds of live stock, poultry, etc., etc.

George L. Worlow, President.

running, trotting and pacing horses, with the various poultry and fowls, and the appearance of the French Brotherhood of America, who are so busy and working hard preparing for tomorrow's big show. Carded after carded of exhibits was received yesterday and many more carded are due to arrive today. Secretary Powell and all of the board of directors were hard at work all day assigning places to the exhibitors, in fact, they worked far into the night in their efforts to bring order out of chaos.

Cherishing news has come from all the towns that are making special exhibits to the effect that on the day assigned there all their schools and places of business will be closed, and that all of them are coming to Fresno to enjoy at least one day of the big week. It therefore goes without saying that all during the week Fresno will be packed and jammed.

PROGRAM OF WEEK.
The week's program is a most attractive one from every point of view. There will be something doing all the time, in fact, several things at the same time. It will be like a big three ring circus. Those who don't like horse races can see a first class baseball game, competition drill, football game, view the main-bird in his original flying machine, visit the exhibit hall and see the best things produced in the San Joaquin valley, or gaze at Rockers Blondin in his daring wire performance.

In addition to all this, on Thursday it is expected that several hundred of the prettiest ladies in the valley will be on exhibition, competing for the fourteen handsome prizes offered by the association and public spirited citizens. Mrs. R. A. Powell has taken charge of this feature and she is doing all in her power to make it a great success. Any proud mother who thinks of entering her baby in the contest can get all the details from Mrs. Powell. Her residence phone number is Main 3046.

The great feature for Wednesday afternoon will be the drill contest between drill teams of the local fraternal orders, both men's and women's teams. These teams are drilling hard almost every night, each team being determined to win first prize—$100 in gold.

CANDIDATES DAY.
Tuesday is set apart for the candidates for governor to speak. The street parade of the local labor unions for this occasion promises to eclipse the big parade of last month, for the labor boys are all out after the cash prizes offered by the association. The Democratic club members are preparing to give Theodore A. Bell the biggest reception of his campaign. They will turn out in the parade 150 or 200 strong and will have a big float properly decorated for the event.

Friday Congressman Needham and A. L. Cowell will speak from the same platform, as will also Senator Cartwright and A. M. Drew. Sanger and Reedley will be here on that date in full force.

SATURDAY SPORTS.
Saturday will be devoted to cowboys and cowgirl races and a crack game of football between the Fresno High School team and a team out-of-town yet to be selected, while tomorrow, the opening day, those who attend will have the opportunity of witnessing the finest motorcycle races ever seen in this section. There are nine events on the card, and sensational time will no doubt be made.

The outlook for a great fair, and a good crowd, is certainly very bright. It can be said in advance that it will be a success.

President Worlow announces that beginning Tuesday there will be a race card consisting of two harness and one running race every day.

FORMER GOVERNOR
EROWARD IS DEAD

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 1. Former Governor Eroward died today.

Napoleon Bonaparte Eroward was an unusual figure in Southern political life. In his early days he was a Florida logging hard, and was a Frenchman, who came to the United States in 1820. As a filibuster during the "Three Friends" he became established in the reputation and working business with headquarters at Jacksonville.

He was governor of Florida from 1865 to 1868. While in office he was defeated in a primary for the United States senate and endorsement by Senator Dumas I. Eroward. He was a successful lawyer and a great statesman.

We will begin to harvest our Winter crop of Wood-en Harness. The early rains have proven to be very beneficial as our entire crop is well matured, and when harvested will be the finest that has ever been placed on the market in this Valley.

For the benefit of those who have never seen our products we will during Fair Week place on display in our show rooms and store a complete assortment of our

WOOD-EN PRODUCTS

We manufacture and sell more Heavy Team, Butt Chains, Chains, Dray, Express, Cart, Coach, double and single Buggy Harness, Saddles in 50 odd styles, Riding Bridles and all accessories thereto, than all other factories and stores in the San Joaquin Valley.

All of our harness is made in our own factory and we guarantee every piece to be of the best.

We have more satisfied customers than all other leather goods stores in this valley.

Is this not proof that we deliver the goods at prices that are right?

THINK THIS OVER

Don't hesitate if you are short of cash. We will take care of you.

We have but one price; the lowest possible. Please do not ask for a special price. It is unpleasant to refuse you. Our goods are worth more than we ask for them. That's the reason. Every article that we sell is the best you can buy for the money.

During the past four weeks we have repaired 214 single and double harness, 29 trunks, 94 suit cases, 37 traveling bags, 11 saddles, 189 ladies' hand bags and numerous other leather novelties. Among the entire lot we found through inquiry and otherwise that less than 5 per cent of them were purchased in our store. Yet we have sold during the past year over 1000 sets of harness, 323 trunks, 467 suit cases, 296 traveling bags, 116 saddles, 7624 ladies' hand bags and hundreds of leather novelties.

BUT LISTEN! We Have Not Told You All

Of the entire lot which we repaired, less than 10 per cent had been in use over 90 days, yet 65 per cent of the lot were sold for fancy prices.

THESE ASTOUNDING FACTS

Are most deplorable and should not be.

We ask the following questions and give one answer to all in three words:

Does it pay to buy inferior goods?
Does it pay to sell inferior goods?
Does it pay to sell a sheepskin Suit Case and tell you that it is genuine cowhide leather?
Does it pay to sell a plain pine box body Trunk covered with tin, or canvas and tell you that it is a 2 or 3-ply Trunk?
Does it pay to sell a pressed paper Trunk and call it vulcanized fibre?
Does it pay to sell you a sheep or goat skin Ladies' Hand Bag and tell you that it is genuine seal?
Does it pay to sell a pressed cowhide bag genuine walrus, Falkland seal or Alligator?
Does it pay to sell you an Eastern or foreign made harness and tell you that it is your own make?
Does it pay to misrepresent your goods yourself or your neighbors? NO, POSITIVELY NO!
Can we sell a genuine seal Ladies' Hand Bag for Two or Three Dollars?
Can we sell a genuine leather Suit Case for Four or Five Dollars?
Can we sell you a genuine Walrus or Falkland Seal Ladies' Hand Bag for $5, $6, $7, $8, $9 or $10.00?
Can we sell you a genuine vulcanized fibre Trunk for $9, $10, $11, $12, $13, $14, $15 or $20.00?
Can we sell you a genuine No. 1 Harness for $10 or $12.00? NO, POSITIVELY NO!
Before purchasing any goods in our line, we ask you to stop and ask yourself these questions.
Is it wise to buy pills at a cigar store?
Is it wise to buy shoes at a hardware store?
Is it wise to buy milk at an acid factory?
Is it wise to buy cigars at a peanut stand?
Is it wise to buy candy at a butcher shop?
Is it wise to buy beer at a "Blind-Pig"?
Is it wise to buy furniture at a blacksmith shop?
Is it wise to buy leather goods at a drug store?
Is it wise to buy medicine at a leather goods store?
We think not! What do you think?
When you purchase at our store you know before you pay just what you are buying. You do not pay for one thing and receive another.
Pay us a call and let us show you our goods and where our Wood-en Harness grows.
It is worth your while.

OUR VOTING CONTEST.

Is going at a rapid pace and the results so far attained cause us to smile. Is it necessary to tell you why?—We think not. Look the list of candidates over. You may find your choice there. If not, then nominate the lady and gentleman whom you think so well of. Had the contest closed last night MISS MERLE SHAW, and M. EUGENE RAHILL, Insurance Broker, would now be the proud owners of the two most beautiful Traveling Outfits in this valley. Note the standing of the candidates. Now is your time to be loyal to that lady or gentleman you favor most. Boost them along.

REGISTRATION HEAVY IN MCKITTRICK FIELD

Republican Club to Be Organized and Politics to Hum.

MCKITTRICK, Oct. 1.—The registration of voters for the coming election was quite satisfactory, and from now till the close of the contest matters political will be lively. The local races will bring out a good vote, as all the aspirants for office are hard at work. There are three contestants for the position of justice of the peace—George T. Kinkade, the Republican and Democratic nominee, and A. L. Biddy and Charles L. Brown, Independent.

The Republican club will be organized next Saturday night, and indications point to a good membership of active members of the party. At a preliminary meeting this week, O. E. Phelps was chosen temporary chairman and J. J. O'Meara temporary secretary. Those present expressed themselves in enthusiastic terms as to the outlook, and promised effective work during the remainder of the campaign.

The second dance of the season will be given at the Reward Club house next Friday night. Other entertainments are to be held soon, and the social season promises to be most enjoyable.

Miss Alice McCullum has returned to her home in Orange.

J. F. Tuley has returned from Paso Robles.

James H. O'Meara has gone to San Francisco.

Thomas A. Hiney, who has been at California Hot Springs for some time, has returned to McKittrick.

L. Archibald has gone to Iowa, where he will visit friends.

H. L. Curtis has returned from a visit to Delaware and Pennsylvania.

W. H. Jargis has returned from a trip to Eastern cities.

C. H. Love, who has been spending two weeks in Los Angeles, is home again.

WORK IS BEING RUSHED ON NEW INTERURBAN AT PORTERVILLE

High School Classes Hold Reception and Dance for Freshmen.

Real Estate Men Planning to Secure Tracts for Colonization.

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 1.—Remarkable progress is being made upon the construction of the P. N. E. railroad, and within the next month and in ample time for bringing out the fall fruit crop, the line of the road will be in operation as far as Worth. In view of the splendid progress which is being made, the principal orange growers of the upper country are now discussing the possibility of the organization of their own packing company which will be affiliated with the Porterville association.

At the Union Hall last evening, the senior, junior and sophomore classes of the Porterville Union H. were the hosts at a reception and dance which was given in honor of the freshmen class, which is the largest class thus far in the history of the local institution.

Dancing occupied the attention of the guests until 10:30 o'clock, when the freshmen were excluded from the room and in squads of two and four were brought in and given degree work, which entitles them heretofore to full standing in the school. About 150 of the students and members of the faculty were present for the affair.

Democrats of the county opened their campaign here tonight with a rally which was lightly attended. Miles Wallace of Fresno, E. I. Freeman, a Visalia attorney, and J. W. P. Laird, candidate for state senator from this district, were the other speakers. A few of the candidates standing up while they were introduced by the principal orators of the evening. M. E. Bradley and Earl A. Bagby of the Democratic central committee, made the arrangements for the rally.

San Franciscans, headed by W. E. Sinard, interested in property along the line of the new more or less perfect Ocean Shore railroad were here today and made a tour of inspection of the property along the line of the new Porterville Northeastern Railroad. They are making a list of the land which lies along the route of the new line, and especially of the property which is adapted to citrus fruit, deciduous fruit and grape culture. When this land has all been listed and mapped it is stated that one of the largest colonization schemes yet set afoot in this valley will be attempted. It is the idea of the promoters of the new railroad to divide this land into small fruit farms not exceeding ten acres in extent, with the idea of getting the largest possible number of families upon the tracts in question.

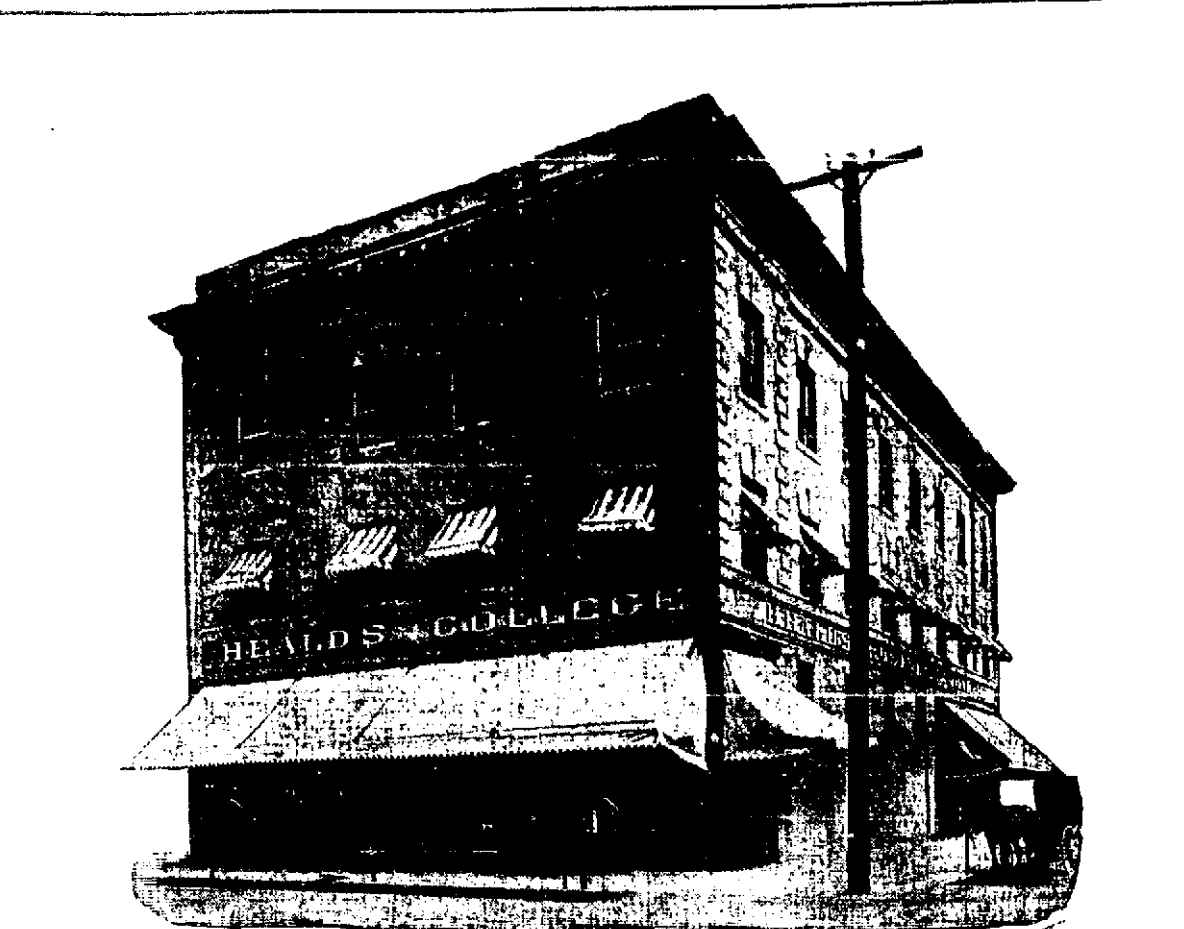

Miss Pearl P. Zalud was the hostess last evening at her home on Morton street, at a fruit shower which was given in honor of Miss Mildred Price, who is to be the October bride of Hugh Hornbake, one of the young local business men. Tea was served on the lawn of the pretty Zalud home, the young matrons and maids in attendance at the affair coming laden with offerings of preserved fruit which are to be used in stocking the future larder of the newlyweds.

INJUNCTION IS SECURED BY LATON & WESTERN RAILROAD CO.

Rival Corporations Have Enjoined Each Other From Future Work.

San Joaquin Valley B. Y. P. U. Opens Fall Sessions in Hanford.

HANFORD, Oct. 1.—The Laton & Western Railway company secured an injunction in the Kings county Superior Court today to protect their property from being interfered with by the Hanford-Summit Lake railway. The two rival roads each now have an injunction against the other and are pleading at each other the heated battle pending the next move of the court. The case will again be taken up on Monday next.

We Invite Your Inspection During Fair Week

Take this opportunity to inspect this institution that is doing such wonderfully good work in this locality. Find out for your own edification how it is possible for this college to accomplish so much for its students. You are interested in the success of your sons and daughters and you are interested in your own success, if you are a young man or woman about to enter into the business world. We can help you to attain success. We can fit you for a business position in a way that permits no failure. We are doing this daily for scores of young people, and what we can do for them, we can do for you. This college has passed the experimental stage. All our methods are tried and proven. When you leave this college as a graduate you are qualified to seek any position and you will secure it, as Heald's graduates are always in demand.

A School With a Purpose

The faculty of this school would feel that its calling was indeed degraded had it no other ambition than to fill its building with students, hurry them helter-skelter through its curriculum, and push them out to make room for others. Its conception of a school's duty is higher than that and infinitely broader.

This school wants to do its share towards raising the standard of citizenship and solid business men and women by taking young men and women and training them for the world's work, turning them out fit for the fight of their lives.

We Accomplish a Great Deal

We accomplish a great deal for our students, not only when they are under our instruction, but after they leave us. We feel responsible for their success. We teach them carefully and conscientiously, all that a good business man or woman must know and we secure positions for them as soon as they finish their course.

So your future is practically assured the minute that you enroll at Heald's. With us to guide you through the intricate paths of business learning and with us to secure you a position, you have no need to fear the future.

CREAMERY IS OPENED WITH BIG BARBECUE

Pastor of Visalia M. E. Church South to Preach Farewell Sermon.

VISALIA, Oct. 1.—A barbecue marked the opening of the new Visalia Creamery in this city today. The big "feed" was served at the plant on Oak street, just across the street from the Southern Pacific building, and several hundred stockholders and business men of this city partook of the viands which consisted of sumptuous quantities of beef and mutton.

The creamery will make its first churning tomorrow, running from 6 to 8 a. m. An invitation has been extended to the public to be present and a glass of buttermilk will be served to each. The plant is built along the most up-to-date sanitary lines and this fact it is desired to thoroughly demonstrate. The plant has a large capacity and it is planned to make the output large.

Rev. W. A. Roeder, for four years pastor of the M. E. Church South in this city, will preach his farewell sermon tomorrow. The laws of the denomination provide his remaining charge, and at the conference of the church to be held at Stockton the coming week, he will be assigned to another charge.

The board of stewards have passed resolutions expressing regret that his departure becomes necessary.

A meeting of the horticultural board was held this morning at the court-

VESSEL AGROUND.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Oct. 1.—The Puget Sound Navigation Company's new steel steamer Kishkum, plying between Bellingham and Seattle, ran aground on Strawberry Island in the west entrance to Desolation Pass early today. The vessel's officers report the craft but little damaged and expect to float her at high tide. The passengers have not been taken off.

TOWING SNOW GROWTH.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Population statistics as enumerated in the thirtieth census were made public today for the following places:

SOCIETY

Miss Violet Hodgkin, whose engagement was announced yesterday.

Pantomime dancing is one of the facts of the day, and society women in many places are being coached in the rhythmic art where "Every little movement has a meaning all its own."

Every thought and feature by some posture can be shown. And every love thought that comes stealing.

O'er your being, must be revealing. All its sweetness in some appealing. Little gesture, all, all, its own.

Fresno claims one whose natural grace and poetry of motion has long made her a conspicuous figure in the home dances. Miss Edith Smith, who has been studying in New York during the past season, has taken the initiative as a student in this newest art. In one of the recent plays it was remarked that dancing had become almost a necessary exercise, since the use of automobiles had become so nearly universal. Whether more of the Fresno ladies will cultivate the new and highly fashionable study remains to be seen.

A jolly girl's party was given yesterday by Mrs. H. H. Hodgkin in honor of Miss Violet Hodgkin. The pretty new bungalow was in gala dress for the occasion, quite an innovation in decoration being the sunflower chosen for the living room. Big "black-eyed Susans" filled the vases in cheerful effect and tiny little ones edged the plates on which the dainty refreshments were served.

On opening the folded napkins the surprise of the afternoon was revealed—a souvenir card bearing the pen sketch of a touring car in which sat three persons; on the front seat the chauffeur, driving a shower of rice, some grains of which were lodged on his shoulder. In the tonneau with faces just as perfect as good snapshots could make them sat the afternoon's guests of honor, Miss Hodgkin, and by her side, Mr. Peter Anderson. The grains of rice clinging to both told the story in a most unique way and thus was announced the engagement, long suspected.

Miss Hodgkin is the youngest daughter of Mrs. W. H. Hodgkin of the San Ricardo vineyard. She is identified with the younger social set, is a well known member of the Lambda Theta Phi Sorority and is distinguished in the athletic world, being a splendid horsewoman, swimmer and wielder of the tennis racket. Mr. Anderson is the younger of the well known Anderson brothers of Coalinga. Both of them have hosts of friends in the town and country circles. The date of the wedding is not yet fixed, but promises to be of unusual interest.

The invited guests were Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Fred B. Turnbull of Coalinga, Misses Alice Lyon, Edith Conroy, Winona, Margaret Clark, Ethel Slater, Lillian Dunn, Isabel Dalton, Rene Dalton, Constance Beveridge, Marguerite Beveridge, Freda Olufs, Zoe Edson, Nora Kenyon and Marcia Edwards.

The wedding of Miss Zella Hall and J. Leonard Holman has been set for October 16th, at high noon. The affair will take place at the pretty country residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hall. Miss Hall and Mr. Holman will be the maid of honor and Mr. Holman will be attended by Arthur Drew as best man.

One of the most pleasing features of the conference was the auto drive tendered the visiting ladies, most of them deaconesses or wives of the delegates. The party consisted of about forty-six ladies, and the route taken was to Kearney Park via Chinatown, the Mission and other places of interest en route. This wonderful drive brought forth bursts of enthusiasm from all the guests, but particularly from the Easterners, to whom the tropical palm tree is usually regarded as a hot-house plant decorating interiors. A stop was made at Roeding Park on the return, and the lavish growth of a few years was the subject of much wonder and admiration.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Hockett, Mr. and Mrs. Stobbins, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Cox, Mrs. Charles Torrancia and Joe Hockett, took up a congenial theater party which witnessed Rose Stahl's performance of the "Chorus Lady" at the Barton. Afterwards a jolly little supper was served at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hockett on K street.

Mrs. Lokcaus, the charming visitor who has been the guest of Mrs. E. V. Kelly, is stopping in San Francisco en route to her home in New York.

Mrs. A. J. Samuel of Alameda stopped off in Fresno for a short visit with her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. E. Edwards. Mrs. Samuel is on her way home after a few weeks spent at Olin-center, where Mr. Samuel has been looking over some of his interests.

One of the coming social events in Kingsburg will be the marriage of Miss Grace Nelson to Harold H. Jerpe. The ceremony will be celebrated at the home of the bride's father, Nicholas G. Nelson, on Wednesday night. Miss Nelson will be attended by two maids, her sister, Miss Helen Nelson, and Miss Agnes Jerpe. Arthur Nelson will serve in the capacity of best man.

A very pleasant afternoon Friday was had by the ladies of Alert Circle of the First Christian church with Mrs. G. M. Boles, 1561 J street, as hostess. After a few hours pleasantly spent with their needles, the ladies laid aside their work for a social hour and to enjoy an impromptu program by Mrs. Zoe Smith and Miss Laura Schramm, and a talk on "Sunday School Work" by Miss Goble. At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Hinkle, Mrs. Mizio and Mrs. Darling added their names to the membership list. Others present were Mesdames Zimmerman, Radden, Loper, Friedrichs, Jones, Schramm, Martin, Boles, J. and Boles, Sr. After dainty refreshments the ladies were invited by Mrs. Zimmerman to meet two weeks hence with her in her new suburban home.

Ralph Leonard, a former Fresno boy, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Leonard, on White avenue.

The Query Club leads in the series of entertainments each week that celebrate the reassembling of clubboms throughout the valley. Miss Eugenia Miller, the newly elected president, will entertain the society tomorrow afternoon at her home on K street. Summer reminiscences are always in order and no doubt there will be a large fund to draw from. An interesting program

Y. W. TO RESUME VESPER SERVICES

Dr. Conley to Speak This Evening on Beauty of Spiritual Life.

The Young Women's Christian Association will resume its vesper services on Sunday evenings with a meeting tonight at which Dr. Conley, pastor of the First Baptist church, will speak. The meeting will be the first of a series of meetings at which the general subject, "The Attractive Woman," will be considered. Dr. Conley will speak on "The Attractive Woman: The Beauty of Her Spiritual Life."

There will be special music by Miss Dissett and others, and following the vesper services, which will commence at 6 o'clock, light refreshments will be served.

The vesper services are to fill the "Home Hour" of the Association, and everything possible will be done to welcome visitors and help strangers to become acquainted.

During the following season there will be two series of vesper services. The second series will be on "Religion and Every Day Life" and will be conducted by Miss Myrtle Aldin. The first of the second series will be held November 6th. The program of meetings for the season is as follows:

Oct. 2.—The Attractive Woman: The Beauty of Her Spiritual Life, Dr. Conley.
Oct. 9.—The Beauty of Her Mental Life, Dr. Gould.
Oct. 16.—The Beauty of Her Social Life, Mrs. Easton.
Oct. 23.—The Beauty of Her Physical Life, Dr. Hare.
Oct. 30.—Musical, Mrs. D. C. Leonard.
Nov. 6.—Rest, and How to Get It, No. 12—Worry, and How to Rise Above It.
Nov. 13.—Other People and How to Get Along with Them.
Nov. 20.—Life, and How to Get the Most Out of It.
Dec. 4.—Musical, Mrs. D. C. Leonard.

GRADUATES OF DREW FORM ORGANIZATION

"Faculty" graduates and friends of graduates of the Drew Theological Seminary, who are in Fresno attending the Methodist conference, formed an organization last night at a dainty supper served at Brown's.

Rev. F. H. Stevens of Pasadena was elected president of the newly organized club. Rev. E. W. Banks of Los Angeles was elected secretary and treasurer of the club.

has been arranged and several surprises are in keeping.

The Thursday Night Club will begin its meetings on Thursday, October 6th, at the home of Mrs. W. P. Miller.

Mrs. S. L. Wiley, the incoming president of the Leisure Hour Club, will entertain the club with an elaborate luncheon on Wednesday.

The friends of Mrs. Will Madden will be happy to hear of her planned illness. Miss Madden is still gaining favor in Mrs. Fiske's company, with which she has been connected for the past couple of years.

A reception was given yesterday afternoon at the lovely home of Mrs. M. L. Woy, in honor of the deaconesses and visiting ministers' wives. The spacious rooms were simply and effectively decorated with fragrant roses and greenery. In the receiving line with Mrs. Woy were Mesdames A. V. Lisenby, Lucius Baker, C. C. Gaines, T. S. DeVo and S. L. Platt. Several short addresses were given by the ladies and Miss Minnie Marshall and Miss Maude Hoffmann sang several numbers exquisitely. A feature of the afternoon was the singing of the Pasadena trio, consisting of L. D. Van Arman, George W. King and S. L. Todd.

Mrs. Frank Ryan, with her daughter Maud Rosalie, has returned to Los Angeles after a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Muller.

Mrs. George E. Church is leaving for San Francisco, where she will join her sister, Miss Mollie McLaren. In an automobile trip through the northern part of the state.

Most of the out of town clubs are

Miss Nelson of Kingsburg, whose wedding occurs on Wednesday night.

TO HEAR SPEECH ON DIVISION OF TAXES

Alex. Brown or Sen. Curtin to Address Realty Men at Luncheon.

The Realty Board has arranged to have an important meeting next Wednesday noon, when they will hold a luncheon and business meeting, to consider the division of state and county taxes. Either Alexander Brown, chairman of the Board of Equalization, or Senator Curtin will be present. It is announced, to point out the details of the present arrangement of the division of taxes.

The Chamber of Commerce board of directors will be guests of the realty men to hear the talk on taxes. The address will be primarily with the first amendment to be submitted to the voters at the coming election.

WISHON TO INSPECT POWER LINE ROUTE

A. G. Wishon, general manager of the San Joaquin Light & Power company, will leave this morning on a trip through the West Side to inspect the proposed route of the power line into Coalinga. He will stop at Bakersfield and will look over the Midway district.

WIDOW OF JOSEPH SMITH DIES. SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 1.—Lucy W. Kimball, a widow of Joseph Smith, prophet and founder of the Mormon church, died in this city today, aged 85 years, of a stroke of paralysis. After the death of the prophet she married Heber C. Kimball, one of the leaders of the church.

beginning their coming season's work this week and from their interesting new books, the authors to every possible.

Mrs. Minnie K. Sherman delivered a lecture before the Grange at Tulare yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Homan have their daughter, Mrs. Charles Carlson, visiting them from Los Angeles.

Mrs. F. E. Cook will be hostess at an Italian supper tonight, entertaining about a dozen of her friends.

Mrs. John Lester and Miss Blanche Lester are spending a week in San Francisco.

Master Lloyd E. Martin celebrated his eighth birthday yesterday at the home of his mother, Mrs. S. S. Martin, on Stanislaus street by giving his little friends a lawn party. After games were played the little people were served with ice cream and cake and candies. Among them were Gene, Helen and Wesley Scott, Milton and Freeman Jones, Freda and Margaret O'Neill, Marguerite Martin, Virginia and Marguerite Hines, Vivian Bailey.

At the rectory of St. John's Catholic church, Rev. Father Holden officiating, the wedding of Miss Isabel Bermingham to Lester F. Hartigan took place last Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The bride looked pretty in white liberty satin, carrying a bouquet of white carnations and ferns. Miss Catherine Bermingham, her sister, as bridesmaid, wore pale blue silk. Charles Tilden, cousin of the groom, was best man. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Bermingham, of the group the only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hartigan, well known of this city. After the wedding, supper was served at the home of the bride's parents, 2539 White avenue, where the large dining room was prettily decorated with flowers, smilax and ferns, gifts of Fresno and Oakland relatives and friends. Only relatives and friends were present.

The young couple received many beautiful presents to add to their pretty home at 2541 Davis street.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Lester F. Hartigan, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hartigan, Mrs. Connel, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Hillis, Florence Hillis, Wallace Hillis, Charles Tilden, Albert Seadler, Elizabeth Grue, Miss Maud and Alex Douglas of Oleaner, Mrs. George Withrow of Porterville, Miss Marguerite Boisvert of Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Bermingham, Misses Margaret, Helen, Catherine and Annie Bermingham, Mr. John Tom, Edward, Elmer and Allan Bermingham and Charles A. and W. J. Bermingham of Oakland.

RIVERSIDE ATTORNEY TO OPPOSE S. C. SMITH

Lewis Kirby Refuses to Run for Congress as Nominee of Democrats.

Lewis R. Kirby of San Diego, who opposed Congressman S. C. Smith of Bakersfield at the primary election for the Republican nomination from the Eighth district and who succeeded in getting the Democratic nomination, although defeated by Smith for the Republican nomination, has declined to run as the nominee of the Democratic party, and an effort is now being made to get the necessary signatures to a petition to place the name of W. G. Irving, an attorney of Riverside, on the ballot instead of Kirby.

Irving has announced that he is willing to make the race and friends of his are now engaged in arranging for the placing of his name on the ballot. Irving has announced that he will canvass the entire district in the interests of his candidacy.

FRESNO TOBACCO GETS FIRST PRIZE

Local realty men were interested yesterday in an announcement that Turkish tobacco grown on a fourteen-acre farm on the Kings River Thermal tract had received first prize for tobacco of that class at the recent state fair. The tobacco in question was raised by a Turkish farmer and is said to rank high in quality. The Kings Thermal tract is located in Fresno county, eighteen miles north of Fresno city.

SWEDISH OFFICIAL WILL SPEAK HERE

A special meeting will be held at the Swedish Mission church, corner of P and Silvia streets, at 8 o'clock. The speaker will be a congressman from Sweden, Rev. J. P. Eagle. He is an ordained pastor and has been a member of the Swedish churches for some years. He is a very good preacher and he will speak of Sweden and Swedish conditions. All who understand the Swedish language are cordially invited.

WINTER BASEBALL SEASON OPENS AT RECREATION PARK WITH TIE BATTLE

TIGERS AND COYOTES BATTLE FOR NINE ROUNDS; DARKNESS BUTTS IN

Umpire Charley Calls Halt as Sun Sinks Behind Trees Beyond Ball Yard With Score Tied, 2 to 2; Two Games Today.

With the sun fast sinking behind the trees beyond the ball yard, the umpire called a halt to the game at Recreation Park yesterday afternoon. The battle was the first of the winter season in Fresno and seemed to attract a large crowd of spectators. The Tigers and Coyotes, both teams of the Fresno City League, were evenly matched in the first round. The Tigers, led by their captain, Harry Tracy, were the home team. The Coyotes, led by their captain, Phil Kelly, were the visiting team. The game was a close one, with both teams scoring twice. The Tigers scored in the first and third innings, while the Coyotes scored in the second and fourth. The game ended in a tie, 2 to 2, and will be continued tomorrow.

FIRST TEAM OPENS SEASON WITH A VICTORY

Purple and Gold Eleven Is Returned Easy Winner; To Play at Fair.

Chris Monson's Purple and Gold football team opened the 1910 season with an easy victory over the Fresno High School team yesterday afternoon at Recreation Park. The final score was 22 to 0. The first team completely swamped the visitors, with Coach Benner, who said that the team was not in the best of condition, but that they were determined to win. The Purple and Gold team was led by Captain Monson, who was named the best player of the game. The team will play again at the fair.

SYRACUSE FORCES DUCK SEASON NOW YALE TEAM TO PLAY BALL

Navy Wins and Harvard Crew Beat Bowdoin College.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 1.—Yale had to exert herself today to beat Syracuse, 12 to 6. The visitors made their score on two kicks from place. At the opening Syracuse muffed Yale's kick off and Yale made a touchdown from the eight yard line. The forward pass was used three times by Yale and twice by Syracuse.

NEW BASEBALL LOT AT ZAPP'S PARK WILL BE OPENED TODAY

All Is in Readiness for Getaway Games; Billels and McAfee, Old-Time Rivals, Lock Horns This Morning; Kutners vs. Hickmans in Afternoon.

With a double-header between the two teams of the Fresno City League, the new baseball lot at Zapp's Park will be formally opened today. At 10 o'clock this morning the Billels and McAfee will try to outdo each other in the opener. At 3 in the afternoon the Kutners and the Hickmans will lock horns in what promises to be one of the most exciting games of the season. The lot is in first place and hanging there by the skin of their teeth. Today, Bascom's Hickmans hope to slip the crusher on Barton's cohorts and thereby make the league race more interesting.

Away From the Ordinary

This Head Line Explains the Popularity of Our Tailoring

There is a vast difference in tailor made clothes. Some fit and some don't fit. Some look ordinary and some are "away from the ordinary" and that's the kind we make. Our clothes are distinctively different. They dress you in a way that will stamp you at once as a critical dresser, as one who knows how to dress well and as one who knows where to go to get clothes that fit. Our materials and workmen are without an equal and really beyond comparison.

It takes years of experience to know how to tailor clothes the way we do. Years of study and experiment with different methods, until we have finally reached the point where we can assure you that we have reached the stage of perfection in clothes-making. We challenge comparison with any other tailoring establishment in the world.

OUR WOOLENS ARE IMPORTED

Our woollens are imported direct from foreign countries where the best woollens are made. We are not content to make your clothes out of ordinary woollens. We give you the best that money can secure and the price is no higher than elsewhere.

Let us tailor your next suit and demonstrate to you that there is real economy in having your clothes made by HERMANN THE GREAT.

ALCO CAR, WITH HARRY GRANT AT WHEEL, CAPTURES VANDERBILT CUP

SOME OF HARVARD'S FOOTBALL SQUAD
IN ACTION—KICKING MAY PLAY IMPORTANT
PART IN GRIMSON'S GAMES THIS SEASON

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 1.—Judging by the great deal of attention Coach Houghton is giving to the kicking department during practice, it appears that men kicking the ball will play an important feature in Harvard's games this season. Nearly all the practice finds some squad at work kicking the pigskin. In Boston, the Crimson should have a number of rare ability. His kicks travel regularly from

DEATH LIST IN DISASTER SHOWS SCORE ARE LOST

The windows of the Times building directly across the street from the wrecked building were shattered, the glass falling down on the sidewalk and splintering the interior of the place.
Chief of Police Callahan said today:
"That the Times building was wrecked by dynamite seems certain from all the men seen leaving. There were about 100 persons on duty at the time and most of the detectives. We have found some things that seem to us to point to the authors of this calamity. Whether they will end in any real result is impossible to tell now, but I do know that whether they do or not the police will keep it at without rest until this whole matter is laid bare."
The police arrested Harry Plake, running his way through the Broadway tunnel a few blocks distant. He was locked up on suspicion.
William Brown was arrested later and taken to the station.
CHARGE ON UNIONS.
Speaking of the explosion, Assistant General Manager Chandler said:
"You can say for me that there is no doubt that this outrage can be laid at the doors of the labor unions. They have destroyed the building and plant, and have killed a number of our men. We do not know how many, but they cannot tell the Times."
"There is no doubt but that this explosion was caused by a charge of dynamite placed apparently in the little hind room in the corner of the building. No other agency could have caused it. The Times building was built by us and we had no better to expect, there was no reason for it, except a small charge of dynamite in the room. It is true that the building was crowded with gas, but no explosion of gas could have caused it."
"It was extremely stupid to destroy the plant and risk as many as possible of the employees. For years we have been receiving threatening letters from people who said the paper ought to be blown up. I haven't received any such letters lately, although I have had several telephone calls within the past few weeks threatening us with destruction."
EMERGENCY ISSUE.
Two hours after the fire, Chandler was busy writing telegrams ordering new printing presses and the types and other machinery for the new issue. The issue of the paper was not gotten out today from the Times building, but it is expected that the paper will be published tomorrow from the Los Angeles office. The Times office in another part of the building was not damaged.

Chandler stated that two years ago the Times had a fire in the printing plant with the expectation that the present plant would come out of the destroyed.
The Times was established in 1881 and General Callahan of the paper six months after it started.

fifty-five to sixty yards and also hanging in the air just long enough to allow his hands to shut with whoever receives them. "Hunt" Collett, the red-headed variety back, is an keen kicker, either Captain Wigglesworth, Wigglesworth and Bob Fisher have so far had a new model on the drop kicking and place kicking game. The captain has sent over several good "sunders" from the forty yard line. From now on serious games will be held every day, and by the middle of next week the squad will go into secret practice. Harvard opens her season with Bates college at the stadium. Old-fashioned football will undoubtedly be tried against the Maines and some two dozen players sent into the game. Paul Withington, last year's variety center, arrived here the other day to accept a position in the office of the Harvard Athletic Association. He will join the football coaches in an effort to develop a reliable center for Harvard's weakest place.

For six years the paper and its owner have been in a bitter controversy with the labor unions, starting with a strike of the typographical union.
The American Electrical Company, both subsidiary companies of the Times-Sunday Printing Company, were housed in the building, Chandler estimated the financial loss at $100,000, with insurance of $225,000.
The dead and missing come principally from the composing room of the paper, which was directly above the spot where the explosion occurred. A number of printers and linotype operators are missing and are believed to be buried in the still burning debris in the basement.
In the dead room of the paper, all of the editors and reporters had gone home with the exception of two of the editors.

ELDER'S DEATH.
Assistant City Editor Harvey C. Elder was still on duty. When the explosion came and the flames shot up through all parts of the building, Elder was badly stunned, but attempted to escape. Finding exit in the window, which opened out from the third floor on Broadway, there was no escape there, and he landed in flames. He was forced to jump from the window, but he was killed by the flames. He died soon afterward.

Several men were seen by spectators to come to the upper window, a few minutes after the fire broke out and very few help. The firemen failed to get their ladders up quickly enough and the flames burst out below them. Nets were stretched and the people at the window were called to jump. Many did and suffered serious injuries. The firemen were called to the scene of the first spectators, fell back into the flames.
A young man, Fred A. Jordan, was seen by the firemen and came to his home but a few minutes before the explosion occurred.
FOREMAN'S STORY.
Sam Graybill, foreman of the composing room, had one of the most remarkable escapes. He was in the Times building. He was standing near the corner of the room where the fire broke out. The explosion was felt. He was hurled into the basement and lay there for some time. He was then found by the firemen and taken to the hospital. He is now recovering from his injuries.

ABE ATTELL WILL TAKE CHAMPION ATHLETE FAILS WOLGAST'S PLACE IN MILL WITH WHITE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 1.—Abe Attell, who won the all-around American athletic championship at Chicago a month ago, collapsed at the end of the mile run today and remained unconscious for an hour. He finished fourth.
Thompson was taking part in a program in which he expected to establish a new all-around record. His showing was not equal to what he did at Chicago.
The meet was held on the Occidental College field under the auspices of the Pacific Association of the A. A. U. While the meet was interesting as a spectacle, none of the performances were out of the ordinary.

of the destruction of his newspaper follows:
"Your wire with its terrible news reached me this morning. I am amazed at the desperation of the criminal conspirators in destroying the Times building and slaying its local defenders whose loss I deeply deplore, but the Times itself will live on bravely, defending the vital and essential principles of industrial freedom under law which must yet triumph in the entire nation."
(Signed)
"HARRISON GRAY OTIS"
The president of the local typographical union issued orders that union printers may work in conjunction with the non-union printers of the Times in any of the local newspaper offices in getting out the editions of the Times. This was announced after a consultation of the union men and the managers of the other newspapers.

Nearly a hundred members of the two National Guard companies here left yesterday afternoon for the annual encampment at Alamosa. The militia boys were under the command of Major General George M. Hales, who, as Commander of the 1st and 2nd Regiments, is looking after the Southern region.
The boys will remain at Alamosa until October 15th and will come into direct contact with Uncle Sam's regular fighting men. The officers of the regular army will handle them, and the militia boys will be given the opportunity to get ex-

HARRY GRANT, DRIVING AN ALCO, WINS ANNUAL VANDERBILT CONTEST

Famous Cup Goes to Daring Pilot Who Won the Big Event Last Year; Winner Distinguishes Himself With a New American Record.
LONG ISLAND MOTOR PARKWAY, Oct. 1.—With dead and wounded marking nearly every mile of the course, the sixth Vanderbilt cup race closed today with Harry Grant, driving a 10 horse power Alco, a winner by the narrow margin of 25 seconds. Joe Dawson, driving a Marmon, was second, one minute and six seconds ahead of John Aitken, in a National.
By his victory today Grant repeats his exploit of last year, when he captured the cup in a car of the same make. The winner's time for the 216 miles of the course was 4 hours, 12 minutes and 58 seconds, or an average of 56.15 miles an hour, a new American record.

perience in handling larger bodies of troops than they are accustomed to in their regular National Guard duties.
The special on which the local companies traveled left Bakersfield at half past 12 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The special also had provision for the Hanford company. The two Fresno companies had a couple of coaches and a baggage car, while the Hanford and Bakersfield companies, each about fifty strong, had a coach apiece and a baggage car between them.
The special traveled on the Santa Fe tracks as far as Stockton, where it was turned over to the Southern Pacific for the run to Alamosa. The Southern Pacific has made a special attraction of the Alamosa encampment to promote passenger travel and has issued attractive folders describing the show battles and other features of the big annual drill of the soldiers.

FALL 1910

Fall Apparel for Men Here in Profusion

An extensive showing of all that's late in style and most desirable in Fall apparel for men is what we have here to offer you this season. We have used the word "profusion" judiciously, for your choice of style and colorings are practically unlimited. We have prepared generously for a big season's business and have bought in larger quantities and in greater varieties than ever before. We invite you to visit our store at all times and post yourself on what is correct for gentlemen to wear for Fall 1910.

An Early Showing of Overcoats Fall 1910 Styles Show a Great Improvement Over Last Year's Styles

You will be mightily pleased with the style tendencies in overcoats this Fall. While they are swaggy and striking in appearance, yet everything bordering on the extreme has been eliminated. The overcoats that we show are of the sensible kind, the sort of overcoat that one may expect to wear for several years, as the style will always be in good taste. One particular feature of our overcoats this Fall is their superior fitting qualities. They are perfect.

While the material, design, etc., is important, yet the fit of any garment is the most important feature, and we pride ourselves on the fact that here in our showing of overcoats you will find that each and every one of them will fit you, as though moulded to your form. Our overcoats are made by tailors who have spent a lifetime in the study of overcoat perfection.

Prices Range from $15 to $35

Fall Suits Here In Plenty

They are all here now. Fall suits fresh from the maker's hands. We are prepared to show you a display of fall clothes that for excellence and general goodness cannot be duplicated. Our showing compares favorably with the displays you read about in the largest cities. Very few cities possess a greater percentage of well-dressed men than Fresno, and we are prepared to meet the demand and to keep the percentage up, as never before.

While you are here enjoying your self at the Fair and among the Danish Brothers, let us suggest that you become better acquainted with Bittel's. We are in the heart of the business district and easily accessible.

INTERURBAN ROAD IS BIG BOOST TO BUILDING

May Be Deciding Factor in Favor of Erection of $200,000 Hotel.

SUGLIAN PLACE SOLD
$30,000 for 25 by 100 Site -
Kleinhurst Building Very Active.

Beginning of work on the Fresno-Hanford interurban road, which is expected to start early this month, is expected to mark a new epoch in both the real estate and the building business of Fresno. The putting through of this project is expected to produce not only a new road, but also an influx of people, and an influence in favor of large building projects considered here by department store people and others, particularly the plan of the Fresno Hotel company to erect a large hotel on Merced and I streets, this city, at a cost of more than $200,000.

Farther than this, it is believed that the building of the Fresno-Hanford interurban will be the first step toward a number of suburban and interurban lines radiating from this city, which will bring good transportation facilities to almost all sections of farming land near here, not already closely in touch with railroad service.

While final decision on the matter of building has been put off by the Fresno Hotel company until the fall of this month, active work is now in progress toward raising $200,000 additional that is needed for the consummation of the project. It is conceded that the putting through of the interurban road will be a great factor favoring the building of such a hotel in Fresno, and it may prove the deciding feature of the situation.

GOOD DEAL MADE.
Although both real estate trading and building are far from quiet here, new projects are being launched in the house line constantly, while a number of others which have been in the air through the summer are now under way and their completion is a certainty. Realty dealers generally report business good, with vineyard and orchard land strong on the list, and considerable interest in town properties. Some of the most important deals being closed are in business locations in this city.

W. E. Birch has sold the Suglian place, twenty-five by 100 feet in size, on the corner of Mariposa street and the alley between J and K streets, for the sum of $30,000 to F. J. Dow. There is now a lease on the property which will be in force for three years, and during that time no changes are to be made in the property. No plans have been announced for the period of the expiration of the lease, but it is understood the property will probably be modernized then.

Selling for $300 per acre, a forty-acre ranch property near Sanger, in the heart of the fruit and nut section, was disposed of by Birch during the week.

Sales of lots for building purposes in the residence districts are constantly reported in more or less volume. As an example, Stubbins and Company report the sale of four lots on J and K streets, and two lots on Mariposa street and two lots on Blossington Park tract. The same firm disposed during the week of two half sections, one of which was a large tract, and one near Sanger, recently put through, and one near Sanger.

NEW TOWNS BUILDING
Remarkable building activity is reported from the new addition of Kleinhurst. The whole place resembles a city, and everyone is putting up some sort of house.

Most of the new towns in this section of the state are showing great activity. Town at Strathmore, in the citrus belt of Central California, Ryan and Murad, the contractors, have just completed a $15,000 office building, the largest single job yet reported from the new towns.

The same contractors have also just completed remodeling and extending the abstract office of W. E. Birch on K street between Mariposa and Fresno. The Frank Craycroft house on K street, a brick structure to cost $6,000, is now just high. Work has begun on the G. V. Martin bungalow on Fortieth and Merced, opposite the Profit house. Brick is on the ground, and everything ready to go ahead. Gus Manheim's house on Fortieth avenue, which will be one of the most artistic bungalows in this city, is now nearing completion.

The concrete garage building of the White Motor Car Company on Tuolumne and I streets is now getting well along, the walls being in place.

Work has begun on the $25,000 undertaking of Stephens and Bean on Tuolumne and I streets.

The foundation of the Masonic temple on K and Merced streets is now up, and work on this building will be whopped along, as the committee in charge desires to get it done as soon as possible.

Machinery is now being installed in the new Republican building, one liotype being in operation there at present. The new $25,000 press is practically set up, and the building will be shortly occupied.

J. B. Middleton, the contractor, will commence tomorrow morning the erection of a 24x36 foot building on the Kearney estate, and a portable house for dwelling purposes, of the same dimensions. Contracts for the work were let by the regents of the University of California.

VISITING DIVINES ON SIGHTSEEING AUTO TRIP

Bishop Hughes Says Divorce Evil Is Appalling in Class Address.

BISHOP WILL PREACH
Conference Sermon Will Be This Morning; Foreign Missions Tonight.

Three hundred ministers, delegates to the Southern California conference of the Methodist church, yesterday were given an opportunity to see the Fresno (state and the surrounding country in a big auto trip. The ministers left in various parties between 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and were given a ride of forty to fifty miles. The automobiles were in charge of A. V. Lacey and J. Q. Anderson.

First the ministers went to Kearney Park. They were driven slowly through the magnificent grounds situated to the state, and later were shown through the Kearney lodge.

Leaving Kearney Park, where all the ministers expressed great admiration for the grounds, the automobiles broke up into small expeditions, each in charge of an experienced guide and chauffeur. The visitors were shown over the district and surrounding country, and were driven by the vineyards, although no stops were made on route after that at Kearney.

BISHOP ON DIVORCES.
Yesterday, in addressing a class of five young ministers, including one colored member, Bishop Hughes of San Francisco urged checking the evil by strict adherence to the code of discipline of the church. No divorced people should be married by a Methodist minister, stated Bishop Hughes, "excepting in cases provided for in a series of special regulations of the disciplinary rules."

"The divorce evil is appalling," said Bishop Hughes. "If it were harder to get married after a divorce than it is now there would be fewer divorces."

If divorced people were ostracized by other members of society, there soon would be nothing for the divorce courts to do. There should be a general movement to make marriage after divorce more difficult than it is now."

Rev. Marcus D. Buell, D. D., concluded his series of interesting expository addresses on the Bible quills in the New Testament yesterday morning. The audience again was a large one, filling the auditorium of the church.

A short business session was held in the morning, devoted to matters of purely ecclesiastical interest. The list of appointments will not be made until Monday, and the volume of business coming before the conference may make it necessary to postpone the announcement of the assignments until a session on Monday afternoon, a session not originally planned.

Last evening Rev. Charles M. Bosworth, D. D., assistant corresponding secretary of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension Society of Philadelphia, gave a strong talk on the work of that branch of church activity.

"It is a good thing to pray," remarked Dr. Bosworth, after telling a humorous story of a boy who interrupted his prayers to attend to one who was bothering him. "But it is also a good thing to say once in a while, 'Excuse me, Lord, while I get out and do some work.' Sympathetic temperament is necessary and a knowledge of the language of the immigrant classes among which the missionary works. You can't do much good by standing to one side and throwing a tract at a man."

GAYNOR FELICITATES DIX ON NOMINATION

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Major William J. Gaynor sent a message today to John A. Dix, Democratic nominee for governor, congratulating him on his choice by the Rochester convention.

The mayor says he congratulates the state on the selection of Mr. Dix and that every man, without regard to party politics, will honor the convention by refusing to enter into alliance or trade with corrupt influences "whether living here or chiefly in Europe in show and splendor or elsewhere out of the state, except now and then about election time."

AN IMPORTANT FIRE INSURANCE DECISION
On account of the rapid growth of this department of their business, Noble Brothers Company have decided to give their entire time and personal attention to the writing of fire insurance and other insurance, and to looking after country and city property for owners, renting property and collecting rents. They will be pleased to advise with anyone on these important matters. Telephone Main 4, or call at the office in the Fourth building of Noble Brothers Company.

See Our Large Clothing Ad On Page 10

Our Formal Fall Opening of last week was the most successful display of Fall Merchandise ever shown at the Big Store for wealth of garments and distinction in styles. Crowded from one day's end to the other we have shown to the Fresno women and to out of town patrons a collection of Autumn finery that overtops anything in Fresno in point of beauty and lowness of price. When women shop all over town and then come back here to buy it leads us to believe that we are not putting it too strongly when we say that this is Fresno's Best Store. Style Show will continue for benefit of visiting delegates.

German Silver Mesh Bags; big line to show you. Kid and unlined $5

Welcome Visiting Delegates to Fresno

And doubly welcome to Rotarians, Fresno's largest and cheapest store.

You are invited to look over our plan to see what we can do for a town the size of Fresno. You'll find a rest room here, a correspondence booth, a place where you can meet your friends, and free service in general, and at your disposal, and no charge for the service.

You will find us on two streets. At the corner of Mariposa and H, one of the most hardware and allied departments in the state. Over here at 1119 to 1133 I street, a complete department store, each a specialty store, each one better and bigger than any in the interior of this part of California.

Large Gain in Population of State as Whole Will Give Additional Representation in Congress—Equalization
Board Also Affected—Big Problem For Legislature

(By J. J. McCarthy, of State Department of Engineering.)

A review of the population of the various states taken under the direction and supervision of the Federal government every ten years. This census is based on the representation of the different states in the house of congress, and to the adjustment of congressional, senatorial and judicial districts.

The basis of representation is determined by an act of congress, and until such act is passed the action will be taken by the legislature of the different states in the reapportionment of the congressional and senatorial districts.

likely to use one. At each session of the legislature, the opening three weeks or more are as good as wasted, there being little or no real work accomplished. Then follow about six weeks of misdirected effort, during which hundreds of measures which might just as well have been given thorough consideration during the first half of the session, are made laws without much consideration being given them.

In the past, the machine element, even in a minority, has managed to control the committees. Working through the committees, the machine has been able to hold up considerable legislation until the close of the session, when most measures in the rush to get through can readily be defeated, and bad measures passed.

The certainty with which this has been done, even when the machine has been in the minority on the floor of the senate or assembly, is one of the most astonishing features of machine control of the legislature.

A bill introduced in the assembly goes to an assembly committee. Before the assembly can act upon it, it must be reported back to that body. If it passes the assembly it goes to the senate, where it is referred to a senate committee.

Before the senate can act upon it, it must be reported back to the senate from the committee. A senate measure takes the same course, going to senate committee; back to the senate; if passed, to the assembly; to an assembly committee, then back to the assembly for final action.

The method employed at the last session of the legislature was characteristic of all sessions which the writer has attended during the last fourteen years.

A measure upon being introduced would in the ordinary course of legislative business go to a committee of the house of its origin. The committee would hold it for weeks and even months. When the committee finally acted, the measure would be amended, which required its re-printing, and perhaps its return to the committee.

If the bill finally passed the house of its origin, the committee to which it might be referred in the other house would again hold it up. This would prevent final action upon it until the last days of the session.

Toward the end of the session, when the delaying of bills in committee could be no longer concealed, it was announced from the floor of the assembly that senate committees will not act on assembly bills, then assembly committees will not act on senate bills.

The senate made the same threats as to assembly bills, and the assembly threatened to do the same to senate bills. The result was a deadlock.

CONTROL OF LEGISLATURE REDUCED TO FINE ART COMMITTEES WORK COMPLAISANTLY FOR MACHINE

LOSS OF TIME, MISDIRECTED ENERGY, CONFUSION

(By FRANKLIN HICHBORN.)

At each session of the legislature, the opening three weeks or more are as good as wasted, there being little or no real work accomplished. Then follow about six weeks of misdirected effort, during which hundreds of measures which might just as well have been given thorough consideration during the first half of the session, are made laws without much consideration being given them.

In the past, the machine element, even in a minority, has managed to control the committees. The senate made the same threats as to assembly bills, and the assembly threatened to do the same to senate bills. The result was a deadlock.

Another curious feature of the situation was the care which the machine leaders took to keep the mind of the members occupied. During the first month of the session the members were kept wrangling in committees. During the second month the senate was kept hard at work passing senate bills, while the assembly labored on assembly bills. Thus, during the first two months of the session many bills passed the one house or the other, but very few passed both houses, as is required before they can be sent to the governor for his approval.

Along about the first week in March, a fortnight or more before adjournment, the reform element in the legislature awoke to the fact that the senate committees were holding the great bulk of the measures which had passed the assembly, while the assembly committees were holding the bills that had passed the senate—and that the machine controlled the committees.

At that time there were from 900 to 1000 bills under consideration in each house, all of which, if dealt with at all, had to be considered in something less than two weeks.

Each member had his own pet measure, and in the panic to pass bills which constituents demanded, the machine was given pretty much its own way.

The Wright railroad regulation bill, for example, of which little was heard during the early days of the session, was by a close vote substituted for the comparatively effected Station bill. There was, however, inclination to amend the Wright bill to meet the views of the shippers. The machine accepted the amendment, but the senate, which had been on the ground that adjournment was so near that to amend the bill would cause delay which might prevent the passage of any railroad regulation bill.

The direct primary bill, as the machine element amended it in free conference committee, furnishing another example in point. The anti-machine element had to accept the bill as the committee amended it, or be open to the charge that they had defeated the direct primary measure.

"I shall vote for the report," said Senator Stanford, "not because I believe it to be what is desired by the people of the state, but because I believe it to be the only bill that can be adopted at this late hour, when the legislature is about to adjourn."

Such examples could be multiplied. The days wasted at the opening of every session bring about a consequent loss of work at the close, which the machine employs to good advantage, and which costs the people of California dearly.

Scene of the Crucifixion.

BY MARGUERITE THOMPSON.

Had it not been for the fact that I could not allow my elderly aunt to witness unaccompanied through Germany, I would never have gone to Oberammergau. True, whenever some enthusiastic friend rushed off to see the Passion Play, I felt a small desire to go along, but when I did go it was not to watch a sense of duty. Over and over again I have read of the Passion Play, and I have heard of it, but I have never seen it. I have heard of it, but I have never seen it. I have heard of it, but I have never seen it.

The most interesting thing about the Passion Play was the fact that it was a religious festival, and that it was a religious festival. They said, "It is the most wonderful thing I have ever seen. It is the most wonderful thing I have ever seen. It is the most wonderful thing I have ever seen."

The most wonderful thing I have ever seen. It is the most wonderful thing I have ever seen. It is the most wonderful thing I have ever seen. It is the most wonderful thing I have ever seen. It is the most wonderful thing I have ever seen.

restrain from laughing. Many of the Bible phrases gave me quite a shock translated into German. It reminded me of the first time I ever heard Shakespeare played in French. It was amusing from the beginning, but when the machine was introduced, it was a shock. It was a shock. It was a shock.

I have heard many speak of the Passion Play as marvelous because it was given in a simple manner. It is a cultured, elegant matter, even though it is a matter by trade. He is as far removed from the peasant, in the sense that Europeans use the word, as the majority of people in the audience. This is the only one of the many plays which I have seen which is really a masterpiece.

I read somewhere a description of the wonderful and terrible effect of this play on the audience. How they were worked up into a state of religious frenzy, weeping and wailing and tearing their hair as if in pain. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The most beautiful and impressive thing about the whole play was the fine dignity and solemnity that neither players or audience forgot for an instant. I saw many who were moved to tears, especially the women. I saw many who were moved to tears, especially the women. I saw many who were moved to tears, especially the women.

At last we had an intermission of two hours in which to eat dinner and see the town. We found the restaurants very good and no more expensive than Munich. Everything in Oberammergau has been arranged for the tourists this year. The houses have been rebuilt and enlarged, and restaurants put in every garden, and innumerable souvenir and "curio" shops set up. Every year you turn are postcards and crucifixes, everything every part of the play has been put to some commercial value. There are more crucifixes in Oberammergau than in Rome. There are postcards of Anton Lang in every portion, Christ is everywhere supposed to have taken. Every actor in the play runs a restaurant, and every actor in the play runs a restaurant, and every actor in the play runs a restaurant.

BRIDEGROOM TRIED TO FLEE.

Pleading He Was Merely Substitute for Real Mail Love.

Pleading that he was merely a substitute for the real woman, William Crawford, of Amherst, Nebraska, was arrested at Bloomington, Pa., charged with attempting to desert his bride of a night, Sadie Emery, daughter of F. S. Emery.

Crawford argued that he had done his duty and tried to console the bride with the assurance that the man who had really wooed her, the genuine Crawford, would be on in a few days. The romance having been a null affair, during the progress of which the bride had been deceived, the bride's father, Constable Betz, was routed from their beds, and before the town clock had struck 6 Crawford was under arrest. In his predicament he declared his former statement that he was not Crawford was untrue, and that he was really the man of the bride's dreams. The difficulties were adjusted and the couple left today for their Western home, where Crawford claims he is a man of property.

The romance had its inception when the bride had in the national newspaper of the Seventh Day Adventists, a religious act with which she identified, that William Crawford, of Amherst, Nebraska, was not averse to taking unto himself a second wife, he being a widower of 41, with a 5-year-old son. Miss Emery answered, and her letter brought a fervent response. That was seven months ago. The correspondence was kept up and photographs exchanged, with the result that she finally accepted his proposal of marriage.

The bridegroom did not reach home until last night. The Reverend Charles Baer was ready to tie the knot, and the clerk of the courts was routed from bed so that the bride couple might secure their marriage license, and the ceremony performed without delay.

Crawford and his father-in-law went together that night, and it was this fact that early in the morning enabled Emery to nip his new son-in-law's plan of escape. Arrived before a week, Emery was amazed to see Crawford preparing to leave. Philadelphia Record.

SOUTHERN TRIP OF COLONEL MAPPED OUT

Starts October 6 for Tour; Silent on Slap From Cummins' Paper.

OYSTER BAY, Oct. 1. — Colonel Roosevelt's ten days' tour through the South and Southwest begins on October 6.

The first stop will be at Bristol, Va., and the second at Knoxville, Tenn., where he will deliver an address at the Appalachian exposition October 7. Colonel Roosevelt will speak next at Rome, Ga., where there from Atlanta, Ga., he will make an address before the United States Memorial Association on the evening of October 8. He will speak at a conservation meeting in the afternoon.

Leaving Atlanta on October 9, the party arrives at Hot Springs, Ark., where Roosevelt will be entertained at the Arkansas state fair on October 10. From there the party will go to St. Louis, spending twenty-four hours under the direction of Governor Haden and the city and state Republican committees. A breakfast will be given by the Business Men's League, there will be a luncheon with the traffic club, and a public address under the auspices of the Republican committee at the Coliseum in the evening.

At Peoria, Roosevelt will be the guest of Spaulding Council, Knights of Columbus, on October 12, and the arrangements in Indiana, including Indianapolis, are under the direction of Senator Beveridge and the Republican state committee. Roosevelt will return to New York on the evening of Friday, October 14.

MISSOURI HAS FEWER FARMERS; CITIES GROW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. — The state of Missouri has a population of 3,293,335, according to the enumeration made during the thirteenth census, statistics of which were announced by the census bureau.

This is an increase of 144,410, or 4.5 per cent over the population in 1900, which was 3,148,925.

Population statistics as enumerated in the thirteenth census were made public today by the census bureau for the following Missouri counties:

Buchanan containing 81,109 people, compared with 82,743 in 1900.

Green county containing Springfield, 63,112, compared with 52,713 in 1900.

Jackman county, containing Kansas City, 283,522, compared with 195,193 in 1900.

Jasper county, containing Joplin, 59,672, compared with 54,193 in 1900.

PINCHOT ATTACKED AT MINE CONGRESS

Report Favors Removal of Bar to Prospecting on Timber Reserves.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1. — That the members of the United States should help the forestry service in any revision of the conservation law which would conserve timber resources, but that any effort to bar prospectors from entry into the national reserves or to restrict the free use of timber should be opposed was the gist of a report submitted by the forestry committee of the American Mining Congress.

The report, which was referred to the resolutions committee for action, attacked the present restrictions placed on mine prospecting in forest reserves and recommended the adoption of a report rendered by the same committee last year but side-tracked by the Goldfield convention. This report bitterly criticized the rulings of Clifford Pinchot and denounced the administration of the forestry bureau under his direction.

SUBMARINES STAY ON BOTTOM FOR 6 HOURS

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 1. — One of the severest tests to which submarines of the United States navy have been subjected, was made recently by the Grampus and Pike, now in harbor. The submarine vessels were submerged until they rested on the bottom of the bay near the corral, made shore and remained there for six hours. During that time, torpedoes were fired at targets and the results were carefully watched by the officers and crews of the torpedo fleet. The feat performed by the submarines did not become known until yesterday and it is said to constitute a record for continuous submergence. The officers and members of the crews of the submarines said but little of their experience and declared they felt no inconvenience from their long stay under water. Further tests are to be made today, including the firing of torpedoes at a net stretched under water.

MRS. SOTHERN AGAIN FILES DIVORCE SUIT

RENO, Nev., Oct. 1. — Virginia Harwood Sothern, the actress, has filed suit for divorce against Edward H. Sothern in the district court here. Mrs. Sothern alleged failure to provide and desertion for a period of more than one year. The complaint charges that Sothern deserted the plaintiff in 1906, ten years after their marriage at Philadelphia.

Mrs. Sothern alleges a six months' residence and also that her husband is now and has been for the last two years a resident of Washoe county, Nevada.

This is the second suit for divorce filed by Mrs. Sothern.

She commenced an action two years ago, but the decree was denied because of her never having lived in Nevada.

BUILDING A THUNDERER.

English Navy Yard, Where Dread-Nought is in the Making.

Long before one reaches the yard the deafening and continual noise of hundreds of hammers at work on the steel plates divides the visitor to the "ships," on which the Thunderer, the admiralty's new dreadnought, is in making at the Thames Iron Works and Shipbuilding Company's works at Tidal Basin.

Towering high above the surrounding buildings a huge forest of scaffolds, derricks, and cranes, from the tallest of which floats the Union Jack, one may see the huge shape of the ship in construction. The scene is a busy and strange one to the visitor unaccustomed to the sight of the building of ships. He has to carefully pick his way over stacks of long iron girders, across wide spaces of sheets of steel awaiting the mechanics' attention, through a maze of wooden supports as thick as the trunk of an oak, past workshops and sheds where the engines are at work cutting like so many straws the lengths of iron and steel to their required sizes and shapes. Then underneath the huge keel of the ship itself, and one comes out upon the little town of shipmakers busy with hammers and weird instruments putting together the parts which go to make the dreadnought.

Each of the 2000 men has his particular part to play in the making of the huge vessel. For the twelve hours commencing at 7:30 o'clock each morning the work goes on unceasingly. About the scaffolding and platforms surrounding the growing bulk men in blue overalls fit hither and thither. From the ground below they appear to be courting danger at every step.

Down toward the stern, mechanics have put in place the spectacle frames for the screw propeller shafts, and 30 feet above the ship's bow's head towers. It appears incredible that only three months ago the first keel plate was laid. The work has been proceeding at an astonishingly rapid rate since that time, and it is expected that the Thunderer will be launched at the end of the present year.

Then she goes down the river to her berth at Dagenham, but before this happens every part of the watertight compartment will be tested, filled with water to the depth of 40 feet. At Dagenham the main machinery and boilers and the major portion of the armor will be fitted in. Huge cranes will lift the gun mountings, all complete, onto her decks and by March, 1912, she will be ready for commission.

The transfer of this new dreadnought, upon which nearly $10,000,000 will have been expended in its construction, is a very simple matter. Two small pieces of paper signed respectively by the Thames Iron Works Company's representatives, will change hands, and another will be added to the list of Britain's dreadnoughts.—London Daily News.

WHO WILL BE MY GUIDE?

Who will be my guide thru life,
And who will bid me say
"This is the wrong, or that the right,"
Who'll show me work and play?

Ye people of the Churches' lists
Who cant—who preach—who pray—
Can you with honor be my guide
On life's dark and weary way?

Oh, will you be my guide thru life,
And show the easy road,
And cheer me when the shadows fall,
And help me bear my load?

Oh, will you be my guide today?
Ye infidel or ye saint,
Can you "Your Brother's Keeper" be
When he is weak and faint?

Oh, will you be my guide today?
I only want a friend,
Who'll help and cheer me on my road
Down to its dead, sharp end.

WRITES OF VIRTUES OF ARMENIAN PEOPLE

Symposium Collected of Tributes by Many Noted Writers.

(By Alice Stone Blackwell in "Armenia.")

Calumny is always revolting, but when directed against a race of exceptional ability, the injustice is much greater. Prescott F. Hall regards the Armenians as "undesirable citizens." Any one holding such an opinion must have a very imperfect knowledge of Armenian history—either ancient or modern—and a very limited acquaintance among the Armenians of the present day.

Way back in the year 631 A. D. we find the Armenians resisting the invasion of a vastly superior number of Persians, bent upon converting them by force to fire-worship. According to a historian of the fifth century, they resisted with such tenacity as to call out from a Persian leader the words: "These people have put on Christianity not like a garment, but like a fetter. Men who do not dread fetters, nor fear torments, nor care for their property, and, worst of all, who choose death rather than live—who can stand against them?"

Since then the Armenians have gone through a long series of wars, persecutions and tragedies, in which they have shown the same stubborn attachment to their principles. It is only about fifteen years since the great massacres, in which 800,000 perished, and most of these could have saved their lives by embracing Mohammedanism. Wendell Phillips said, after Harper's Ferry: "Actually, in this Sodom of ours, twenty-two men have been found ready to die for an idea. God be thanked for John Brown, that he has discovered or created them!"

The Armenian massacres—those of a year ago, as well as those of earlier years—show that in Asia there are still thousands of men and women ready to face death rather than deny their faith. I wonder how many of the Armenians that exist content upon the Armenian character would do as much?

Here are a few opinions from persons who have known the Armenians well.

Dr. Ceras Hamlin, the founder of Robert College, who taught among them for thirty-five years, wrote: "The Armenians are a noble race."

James Bryce, who traveled in Armenia, and studied the people, says: "Among all those who dwell in Western Asia they stand first, with a capacity for intellectual and moral progress, as well as with a natural tenacity of will and purpose, beyond that of all their neighbors—not merely of Turks, Tartars, Kurds and Persians, but also of Russians. They are a strong race, not only with vigorous nerves and sinews, physically active and energetic, but also of conspicuous brain power."

Justice Brewer has spoken of "the heroism of the Armenians." Dr. Grant N. Kimball, who lived for years in the heart of Armenia, calls them "a race full of enterprise and the spirit of advancement, much like ourselves in characteristics, and full of possibilities of every kind." The Rev. Frederick G. Greene, who was born and brought up among them, expresses himself to the same effect.

Lord Byron wrote of the Armenians: "It would be difficult to find in the annals of a nation less crime than in those of the Armenians, whose virtues are those of peace and whose vices are the result of the oppression they have undergone."

Lamartine calls the Armenians "the Swiss of the East." Delaunay compares them to the Dutch. American missionaries describe them as "the Anglo-Saxons of the Orient." Mrs. Isabella Bird Bishop, after confession that she had to overcome a preconceived prejudice against the Armenians, writes:

"It is not possible to deny that they are the most capable, energetic, enterprising and pushing race in Western Asia, physically superior and intellectually acute, and, above all, they are a race which can be raised in all respects to our own level, neither religion, color, customs, nor inferiority in intellect or force constituting any barrier between us. Their shrewdness and aptitude for business are remarkable, and whatever exists of commercial enterprise in Asia Minor is almost altogether in their hands."

Miss Florence E. Fensham, dean for years of the American College for Girls at Constantinople, has had a large number of Armenian girls among her students. She says they are not only able intellectually, but very faithful and trustworthy.

Dr. James L. Barton, secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions, and ex-president of Euphrates college, declares:

"I know the Armenians to be, by inheritance, religious, industrious, and faithful. They are not inferior in mental ability to any race on earth."

Dr. Andrew D. White, speaking once on the Armenian people, said:

"It is one of the finest races in the world, physically, mentally and intellectually. If I were asked to name the most desirable race to be assimilated by immigration to the American population, I would name among the very first the Armenian."

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, answering in the Boston Herald of June 19, 1895, some aspirations cast upon these oppressed people, wrote:

"There are unprincipled persons among the Armenians, as among all other races, and some Americans have been prejudiced against Armenians in general by contact with the demoralized Armenians of Constantinople. But in Constantinople corruption extends to all nationalities. (Uchik) draws a very just distinction between the Armenians of Constantinople and the Levantine ports and the Armenians of Taurus or Erzerum, the cradle of the race, where the independence and the vigorous character of the people has remained comparatively little changed by the lapse of ages. The contrast is as great as between the enervated Greeks of Phanar and the hardy Greek mountaineers of Epirus and Macedonia. The bulk of the Armenians are primitive and hard-working agriculturists, living in the interior, and what Lord Byron said of them years ago holds good today."

During the last sixteen years it has been my fortune to be personally acquainted with a very large number of Armenians, the educated and the ignorant, the rich and the poor. Among them, as among people of every nationality, there are all sorts, good, bad and indifferent. Some of the noblest characters that have ever known have been Armenians; and even among the poor and uneducated I have found an amount of courage, energy and perseverance, combined with a kindness and charity, that would do honor to any nation. It has been my lot to send out a large number of Armenian refugees—generally young men—as household servants, to receive reports of them from their employers, and in many cases to keep track of them year after year. The proportion of dishonesty among them has been surprisingly small.

The Rev. Edward M. Bliss says, after long experience among the Armenians in Turkey: "Those who know the race most widely and most intimately esteem it the most highly."

DR. SNOW TO DISCUSS SANITATION OF FARM

Typhoid Fever and Hook Worm Diseases of Open Country.

Farm sanitation is a subject that must command the attention of farm dwellers and health authorities in the early future. Contrary to popular belief, the status of this country as to health is not the most healthful dwelling places, yet they may easily be made so by utilizing the health appliances which are available to all who can afford their comparatively small cost.

There are more or less prevalent in this country at all times certain diseases which are essentially the product of inadequate sanitation—or of no sanitation. Chief among them is typhoid fever, and any student of the mortality statistics that this is the most prevalent and most destructive to life outside of cities. The hookworm, upon which has been laid the blame for the business of the "poor whites" of the South, is wholly a disease of the open country.

Dr. W. F. Snow, secretary of the State Board of Health, will discuss the subject of farm sanitation at the Davis County Life Conference on October 12th.

The Commission on Country Life recommended some form of supervision of the general health, his features of the report reading as follows: "Theoretically, the farm would be the most healthful place in which to live, and there are numerous farm houses, especially of the farm-owner class, that possess most excellent modern sanitary conveniences. Still, it is a fact that there are also numerous other farm houses, especially of the tenant class, and even numerous rural cottages, that do not have the modern amenities of sanitary arrangement. Health conditions in many parts of the open country, therefore, are in urgent need of betterment. There are many questions of importance, such as soil, milk and water pollution, too much visiting in cases of contagious diseases; patent medicines, advertising quacks, and intemperance; feeding of stock at insanitary places; lack of houses and general unsanitary conditions of those houses not under Federal or other rigid sanitary control; in some regions unwholesome and poorly prepared and monotonous diet; lack of recreation; too long hours of work.

"There is great need for the teaching of the simplest and commonest laws of hygiene and sanitation in all the schools. The people need knowledge, and no conditions should prevent them from having it.

"We find urgent need for better supervision of public health in rural communities on the part of states and localities. The control is now likely to be exercised only when some alarming conditions prevail. We think that the Federal government should be given the right to send its health officers into the various states on request of these states, at any time, for the purpose of investigating and controlling public health; it does not now have this right except at quarantine stations, although it may attend to diseases of domestic animals."

AN IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

The Most Interesting Advertising Competition Ever Inaugurated on the Pacific Coast

Eilers Music House

GIVES MANY VALUABLE PRIZES IN A HIGH CLASS ADVERTISING COMPETITION

$3760.00 to be Distributed FREE!

Give a few minutes to this. It may win you a fine Piano

CONDITIONS

The diagram above represents a piano building containing nine piano parlors. To distinguish them, these parlors are named after our leading pianos, the Kimball, Sohmer, Chickering, etc. The object is to place not less than eight pianos and not more than sixteen pianos in any one room, and yet arrange them so that the number of pianos when added horizontally, perpendicularly or diagonally will total 38. The person sending in the correct, neatest and most artistic answer will be given free a beautiful rich toned $400.00 Kimball Piano. The contest closes at 6:00 o'clock on the evening of October 3, 1910, and all replies must be either in our store or bear postmark not later than that date. In case of a tie between contestants, prizes identical in character will be awarded to each. Any person who has won a piano or musical instrument in a previous competition of this company is barred; also all employees of this or any other music houses. Winners will be notified by mail as soon as decisions are made. The decision of the judges to be final.

PRIZES

First: A beautiful rich-toned Upright Kimball Piano, in fancy mahogany . . . . . Value $400.00
Second: A handsome new style Regina Music Box . . . . . Value $150.00
Third: A satin walnut Cottage Organ . . . . . Value $100.00
Then in the order of merit, 75 bonafide cash credits, ranging in value from $20.00 to $100.00

GOOD ADVERTISING

Over forty pianos and other musical instruments have been given away by us in the past as a means of attracting attention to our house and its methods of business. The list and addresses of these winners will be gladly sent to you upon application. The present friendly competition, we believe, is the most interesting we have ever undertaken. We hope it will be the means of bringing our house and the pianos we sell to the attention of large numbers of people. This is a competition that is open to everybody—the doctor, the lawyer, the merchant, the laboring man, the school boy or school girl—each has an equal chance. The rules are so simple that no one can misunderstand them, and everyone has the same opportunity.

SPECIAL

To anyone sending us with their answer to this competition, the name of some friend or acquaintance who you believe might be interested in the purchase of a new piano or Autopiano, we will send a special souvenir. This information will be treated confidentially.

Agricultural Department

(By W. R. McINTOSH.)

The financial predicament of the retail butchers of Fresno, which has been appearing in the local press recently, accentuates the constant upward tendency of the price of butchers' meat—stock, already near prohibition high-water mark.

In keeping with these unprecedented meat prices, the price of meals at the restaurants and grills in Fresno, where butchers' meat comprises a part of the menu, has been advanced at least 20 percent over prices of a few weeks ago.

The price of beef, pork and mutton in the butcher shops of Fresno is no higher, relatively, than poultry prices. I cannot believe, I believe, a tremendous advantage over our friends of trans mountain regions in the matter of food production throughout the year, but we may raise profitable poultry among young and growing orchard trees, which will be all the better for the poultry.

These orchard trees, if skillfully selected, will provide their owner with an adequate income at a time when he or she may want to quit poultry-raising and "take life easy."

I expect to see the time when Smyrna fig trees and poultry will dot the valley and foothill landscape of the great valley on a thousand farms.

These are products which it might almost seem, no human agencies can ever "overdo" in California.

If many thousand farmers were to turn to these products in the next year, they could not "glut the market."

We are, as everybody knows, in the infancy of the Smyrna fig industry, and we shall be compelled to increase our poultry production a hundred-fold in the next few years, or else many of our people will have to do without eggs and meat.

How do you like the prospects, dear country, of existing on a diet of figs, chickens, fruit and nuts?

SOME SMYRNA FIG PRICES

There are vast possibilities of increase in the price of the Smyrna figs of the future in the San Joaquin valley.

A news item from London, printed in this paper last Friday morning, gives a pretty good idea of what the future may have in store for the farmer who has this delicious fruit for sale. The Republic's correspondent at London said:

"Superintendent Rayment of the Royal Agricultural Experiment Station recently came to London to investigate the matter of the shipping of California figs from here to the Chicago market. Recently W. D. Smith of this place sent a lot of figs in a can of grapes, and these were sold in the Chicago market for more than 25 cents per pound, netting Mr. Smith 21 cents per pound."

"That California figs should be made to reach the Eastern markets in good condition was formerly thought to be out of the question, and that Mr. Smith succeeded in shipping by freight attracted the attention of being expert of the government station. The latter has sent a large number of fig-cuttings here to Mr. Smith and adds that there is a great future for the fig-industry of the state."

PRIZE TEAM CUP WINNERS IN SAN FRANCISCO'S WORK-HORSE PARADE

The current bulletin of the San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals gives an interesting account of the contest for the prize cup, offered by the society, for the best team in the great work-horse parade in that city. It says:

"That good care and kind treatment has made the work-horse of San Francisco equal, if not superior, in appearance and condition to those of any other city in the United States, was amply demonstrated by the 2005 magnificent animals that contended for prizes in last year's work-horse parade."

"Not all of San Francisco's fine horses were entered in that grand pageant, but those that did participate were of such uniform good quality and condition that the ninety odd judges found the problem of choosing the ones to whom prizes should be given much more of a task than they had anticipated."

The four handsome horses pictured herewith are one of Goldberg, Bowen & Company's eleven entries and won the beautiful silver cup. All of the horses owned by this firm are excellent specimens of well-conditioned work-animals and excellent examples of what good care and proper feeding will do.

A handsome team of two well-matched, black horses, driven by Victor Templeton to one of the firm's lighter wagons is constantly admired as it makes its daily rounds, and is among the finest in Goldberg, Bowen & Company's stable. What the company thinks of its prize-winning team is given in the last issue of the "Master Grocer," from which the pictures and following paragraphs are taken.

While it is certainly a matter of pride to be the owners of the championship team, the real interest centers in the horses themselves, and following we give a short description of the members of this great team.

"On the off wheel we have 'Mike,' a bay horse, who is now 15 years of age, and has been in our service continuously for twelve years.

"The nearer wheel is 'Lulu,' a black mare, 15 years of age, with a service to her credit of nine years.

"The off leader is 'Rock,' another bay horse, the youngest member of the quartet, having served us five years of his nine years' existence.

"Lastly, the most interesting of them all is 'Steve,' a gray horse, a full record showing an existence of 21 years and a service with us extending over a period of fourteen years. This grand, old animal is the undisputed pet of the attaché of our stables, enjoying unlimited freedom.

"It is commonly known that his great dislike is being placed in a stall, which annoys him to such an extent that he actually refuses to eat or be down when so placed. His general behavior would do credit to many a human, as displayed by his general good temper and mild manners, never quarreling or showing any tendency of disposition toward his many mates in the barn. These several happy traits have secured for him the entire freedom of the premises, he being allowed to select his own resting place at night, and having free access to both food and drink. This last privilege, much to his credit, has never been abused, he using only what he deems sufficient for his immediate wants.

"The only occasion on which he seems disinclined to readily answer the call of the holder is on bath days, when, very often, on being invited in a very coaxing manner to step into the wash-room, he assumes an air of deep meditation, probably turning over in his mind the advisability of submitting to such treatment."

"On work days, the usual morning greeting is 'Come on, Steve, get to go to work today,' which brings a ready response, Steve getting up and making his way to the harness room to receive the usual brushing and other necessary attention. When the harness has been placed, he will walk sedately to the front of the barn and take his accustomed place in front of the track, then ready for the day's work."

It is worthy of mention that with all the privileges and liberties allowed, even when you consider that the stable door is open at all times, he has never been known to leave the premises until told to do so.

"We might say here that the same care is exercised in the selection of employees in our stable as is shown throughout the entire establishment, which, no doubt, is responsible to a marked degree for the length of service, shown in the foregoing, by the four horses to whom we can point with pride as a very convincing argument for kind treatment."

We wish to thank our friends for the beautiful offerings of sympathy in our bereavement.

warrant the statement that the price of dressed poultry in Fresno is even higher proportionately than the main-val meats.

The butchers will tell you properly and truly, perhaps, that their prices are justified by the wholesale price of meat, which they must pay or go out of business; and the wholesaler will shrug his shoulders and inform you that his prices are forced on him by the live-stock breeders, and these will tell you that the best stock is high because of the scarcity and the high price of live-stock feed.

Here you reach the "final cause" which is supposed to be good for the farmers and livestock raiser, who will probably tell you that there is precious little money in raising cattle, hogs and sheep, and that the wholesalers and retailers are raking in all the profits.

There is some justification, doubtless, for "blaming" the meat trust and the butchers' combine, but there is no reason why the producers who, raising and, therefore, owning the product first, should fail of good profitable prices for every variety of livestock, and especially poultry.

An increase in the livestock production of California, and more especially an increase in poultry on the farms of the state, is justified in a very marked degree by the steady advance in the price of poultry-meat as well as the high and advancing price of eggs, which always maintains a high price when meat is high.

The average farmer, or other persons of small means, can do but little in the way of increasing the number of cattle, sheep and hogs in the rural communities of the state because of the expense in securing the "brood acres" for the purpose and the cost of breeding stock, feed and equipment with which to start the enterprise. For that reason, we find men of considerable means and the wealthy only en-telligently conducted, a gentle, pleasant and healthful occupation.

If, in addition to raising poultry, the producer has sufficient skill and persistence to make winter egg-production his chief concern, there will be a regular, profitable income, where such an owner will handle a product, having an eager and unsatiated market all the time.

SHIPPING EGGS AND POULTRY

California, the state of all others, were conditions are most favorable for raising poultry profitably, where, in its great valleys, poultry feed may be produced every month of the year, and where its mild, equable climate gives opportunity for the growth of young stock every day in the year, is bringing in poultry and its product to the extent of $2,000,000 annually from its sister states beyond the Rocky Mountains.

And, if this enormous outlay were justly and fairly conducted on the part of our fortunate friends from afar, who are raking in California's good gold, I should not bring forward my customary indictment against this trade, deploring and unwarranted as it is. But the packers and shippers of the great Middle West do not send us their fancy chickens—their good, juicy broilers, friers and roasters, nor their fresh, clean eggs—not at all. On the contrary, these crafty and "gritty" tradespeople are sending us their stale, packed eggs along with their old, bald-headed roasters and suffragette hens; hence I protest.

In a sense, however, we are getting just what we deserve for not employing our sagacity and the opportunity which the very bounty of nature has placed at our command, in this state, for producing our own eggs and poultry in abundance to satisfy all domestic demands at least.

BREAKS ARM WHEN HORSES HIT BIKE

Stan Salomon, residing at 411 E. 11th street, to avoid a broken arm, and painful lacerations about the face and head, was injured today afternoon when his bicycle was struck by a horse and rider. The horse, a bay, was driven by a man who was riding a new bicycle and was out for a ride on the new wheel. He was on the right side of the street but he was bewildered when the horse ran into him.

The man, who is a well-known horseman, and his horse, a bay, were carrying out a delivery of a horse and then taken to the Fresno and Kern county fair ground. The horse, a bay, was out for a ride on the new wheel. He was on the right side of the street but he was bewildered when the horse ran into him.

MAN PLEADS GUILTY TO MURDER CHARGE

James Monahan, who on the 11th of July shot and killed Cassius M. Tupper, an Irishman, near Fresno, pleaded a plea of guilty before Judge Austin in the superior court today. Monahan waived the services of any counsel, although advised he might have an attorney to defend him and what was at first thought would be a hard-fought case, was brought to a sudden end. Judge Austin will take testimony in the case before passing sentence in order to learn the gravity of the murder. The officers assert that it was a cold-blooded affair.

San Joaquin Light & Power Co. Arouses Interest of Angelinos.

Kemp Tells of Development Proposed in Valley Power Lines.

Fresno is gaining some publicity in Los Angeles through the refunding of the San Joaquin Light and Power Company, the Los Angeles press devoting considerable space to the proposition.

A. N. Kemp, controller of the corporation, which will issue at once $1,000,000 of bonds to develop electrical power for Fresno, Mariposa, Madera, Kern, Tulare and Kings counties, is quoted as follows, with the announcement of the filing of the trust deed and mortgage with the Trust Company of America recently in this city.

"This is a step taken in looking about an extensive development of the San Joaquin Valley," said Mr. Kemp, speaking of the plans for development. "At the present time there are about 15,000 square miles of land that support a population of only about 150,000 people. All that this land needs is water to make it some of the richest in the world. In the little district around Fresno last year, the products totaled $50,000,000 for about 20,000 agriculturists."

"We have been working with the United States government officials in the reclaiming of farms that have been drowned out by the seepage from the canals, and in this work have discovered that the water level in the whole valley is only about twenty-five feet below the surface. This lends readily to irrigation and electrical pumping and under this method the farmer is not under the expense of employing an engineer to attend to gasoline or steam pumping plants."

"I am supposed to be a worthless fourth hand that was purchased less than five years ago at $1 an acre. P. M. Baker received $1,022.50 in 1907, last year, from his malaga grapes, with an expense for electrical power pumping per year of only $5 a acre."

"When the electric lines are extended throughout the valley it will be possible to irrigate all this land at little cost, and land now producing $5 an acre in wheat and worth $50 an acre, will practically double in value, simply through these extensions."

"The growth through the San Joaquin valley is in its infancy and for this reason we are making every effort to bring about a speedy development, especially the railroads report that they are bringing 60,000 colonists a year into the state who must be provided with homes."

CO-OPERATION URGED IN FOREST PROTECTION

Wider Organization Needed Among Private Owners of Timber.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—One of the lessons which will finally be drawn from the trying experience of the present forest fire season, in the belief of officials of the United States Department of Agriculture, is the need of wider organization among private owners of timber to safeguard their holdings.

It is pointed out that already in the Northwest, both on the Pacific Coast and in Montana and Idaho, timberland owners have formed themselves into associations which assess the members on an average basis and thus meet the cost of maintaining a regular patrol and fire-fighting organization. Only by getting together can private owners usually assure themselves protection, for fire is no respecter of boundary lines and the man who undertakes to keep it out of his own timber will keep it kept out of his neighbor's, too. Wherever possible the government's officers co-operate with the force put in the field by the associations, so that the employees of the government and those of the private owners are handled practically as a unit in fighting the common enemy.

This co-operation is advantageous to both sides. Protection of the national forests necessarily carries with it good deal of protection of adjoining or interior holdings. If the private owners would everywhere shoulder their reasonable share of the burden, the public would gain through more general forest conservation and through relief from the necessity of paying for the protection of private timber in order to protect its own.

Danderine

EVERYBODY CAN HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR NOW, and they don't have to wait weeks and months for results either. You will notice marked improvement after the very first application.

Danderine is quickly and thoroughly absorbed by the scalp and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully stimulating and life-producing qualities. It is pleasant and easy to use—simply apply it to the scalp and hair once a day until the hair begins to grow, then two or three times a week till desired results are obtained.

A lady from California writes in substance as follows: "I have been using your wonderful hair tonic for several months and at last I am now blessed with a wonderful mass of hair that measures over 12 inches in length; the hair is over 2 inches around."

Another from New Jersey: "After using sixth bottle I am happy to say that I have a nice head of hair as anyone in New Jersey."

The Great Hair-Growing Remedy can now be had at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

Free To show how easily it will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the Cassius Brothers Co., Chicago, with their name and address and the silver or stamp to pay postage.

ONE'S FACTIONS OF PARTY CREDIT

which there is valuable water power, low controlled and unappropriated, under leases or grants that shall induce investment of private capital in those lands, but shall continue the government as ultimate controller of the properties with an equitable provision for readjustment of terms at comparatively short periods. Indeed, the affirmative part of the whole policy of conservation awaits action and the Republican party is pledged to give this significant thing attention as it deserves.

We need a new government for Alaska, with laws properly protecting the government domain in that vast empire. We agreed to supplement and supplement the anti-trust law, as it might seem necessary. Existing anti-trust laws have been vigorously enforced.

We are hoping for a readjustment of our relations with Canada that shall bring the two countries into a closer commercial union, beneficial to both.

Finally, we are committed to an elimination of the defects in our banking and currency system, with respect to which the monetary commission has accumulated much material.

"PARTY PROGRESSIVE."
No one can read the list of measures actually passed and those proposed by the national Republican party and not admit that the party is progressive in the highest degree. It is a list to be proud of. The extraordinary achievements of this congress may fairly be stated to be part of a great Republican movement. It is not the work of the executive alone, nor of congress alone. It is not the work of one man, or of one faction. As all shared in the work, to me all must share in the satisfaction of accomplishment.

It is the work of the Republicans. It marks the rising tide of progress that began at the end of a Democratic panic, when William McKinley was our leader and continued through the two administrations of Theodore Roosevelt.

It is truly a Republican distinction that our party has been able to place on the statute books far-reaching remedial legislation, touching the very vitals of our social and economic structure without involving the country in financial disaster. A party of true progress is not a party of radicalism. It is not a party of ultra-conservation. A progressive Republican is one who recognizes existing and concrete evils and who is in favor of practical and definite steps to eradicate them.

EVILS IN COUNTRY.
Now what are the specific evils that have caused our people to believe that they have been growing in this country for years and years and they can be briefly stated thus:

First—The corrupt control of legislative and governmental agencies for the establishment, maintenance and enjoyment of unjust privileges by individuals or corporate wealth, to make this control effective, there have been organized and maintained corrupt machines within both parties which break the current communication and responsive action between the people and those who are elected to serve and represent them.

Second—Combinations of capital in industrial business, generally brought together for the ostensible and commendable purpose of reducing the costs of production and distribution have too often had the real purpose of suppressing competition, controlling prices and maintaining monopoly.

Everyone who is frank must admit that great progress has been made in the rights of the people to our natural resources, but, unfortunately, the natural resources of the nation are now in the way of being conserved for the people who are the ultimate owners of such resources and ought to remain so.

Fifteen years ago, one of the commonest forms of corporate abuse was the management of our railways in the interest of favored individuals by secret rebates. That day has passed. Our new railway act goes much further and greatly increases the powers and duties of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The discretion of the Commissioners not within judicial control by appeal is now very wide and they have in their hands for a real or woe of government business a power that sometimes makes one tremble. The personnel of the commission becomes, therefore, as important as that of our highest courts. The responsibility of the executive in the appointment of the commissioners is a heavy one. A traitor or bias of mind on the part of a member is dangerous. The judicial quality of each should be fine.

We have said to the railways, and their stockholders, "We cannot trust to competition and we cannot trust to you the fixing of proper rates." Having created a tribunal with power to settle when the rates are just, it should be borne in mind that the public welfare and the whole business interest of the country may be injured quite as much with injustice to the railroads as to the result of an unjust claim for low rates as by the imposition of extortionate rates. It is not without significance in this suggestion that ways are today associating themselves together for the purpose of using their influence to prevent justice to their employers by repressive legislation to prevent justice to their employers by repressive legislation or oppressive regulation under the interstate commerce commission.

LEGISLATION FREER

Fifteen years ago the general control of legislatures by corporate influence and corruption was far greater than it is today. The crusade initiated by Mr. Roosevelt and carried on during his term of his office, resulted, first in arousing the entire community to the necessity for reform, and second, in inducing many corporation managers to abandon methods that were questionable and to leave politics to other hands.

It was impossible to arouse the people to a just indignation at corporate control, through machine and boss rule, without having such a movement acquire an impetus that carries it to extreme views and the electorate is now searching for a reform procedure under which bosses cannot live, machine can never control and corruption can never exert influence. Hence, we have movements to eliminate the middle men in politics and to give popular sentiment a more immediate effect in government, than perhaps would have been thought wise by our fathers.

The existence of such a popular impulse ought to rejoice every patriot with the hope that it will be turned to a useful and permanent betterment of our politics.

But however effective these suggested changes may prove at first, I venture to say that no great permanent good can come from them alone, unless they are accompanied by a change in the individual voter and his awakening to the necessity for constant watchfulness and effect on his part to prevent the old evils appearing in a new guise. Everyone will but admit the Sherman anti-trust act, since passed twenty years ago and since subjected to a great deal of judicial construction, in effect for the purpose of breaking up combinations that result in the suppression of competition and the establishment of monopolies.

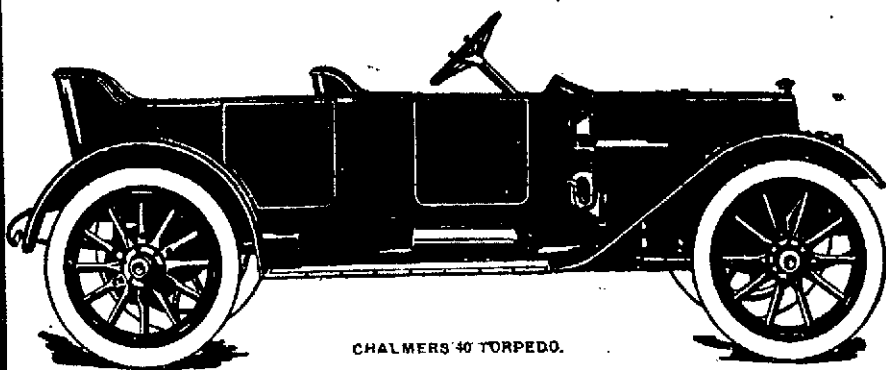

There are pending in the Supreme Court cases which it is hoped will throw still greater light on the subject, making even clearer than they are today the lines between legitimate and illegitimate business. It has been thought that those decisions if adverse to the corporations would greatly disturb financial centers, would halt general business and would bring on financial disaster. I do not share those fears.

INCORPORATION ACT.

I have proposed to Congress in this connection a federal incorporation act which might be taken advantage of by the largest corporations. It would give and it ought to give no immunity from the anti-trust law. But it would have this advantage: It would give the government the benefit of direct supervision of these powerful corporations and it would afford to these corporations ample opportunity to do a legitimate business within the state borders. It gives me the greatest satisfaction to say that in spite of all profits of possible business stagnation, our basic prosperity is assured for the coming year, in that the great volume of the crops now being harvested in value will exceed the products of our fields at any period in the past. Our corn crop, our cotton crop and our oats crop will equal approximately three thousand millions of dollars, and the significance of this fact in its bearing on the business of next year can hardly be over-estimated.

The millionaire, the great manufacturer and the capitalist seem to derive more benefit, secured in dollars and cents, from the prosperity than do the individual workmen, farmer, small merchant, clerk and professional man. But in actual human comfort and happiness, prosperity is vastly more important to the wage earner than to the wealthy. Hence, it is legitimate office of those charged with governmental responsibility to do what they can to prevent the spreading of hoards which will drive capital to its hoarding place and prevent the investment necessary to carry on the widely expanded business of this country from which our people derive their livelihood. Business men now view with favor rather than alarm, the strict enforcement of law.

SAYS BISHOP'S PLAN MEANS CHURCH TRUST

Church Union Spells Ascendancy of Catholicism, Says Writer.

Editor Republican:—Were it not for the fact that even a cat may look at a king, I should hesitate to take issue with a man so learned and ranking so high in his denomination as Bishop Hughes of the M. E. Church North. Among other things he says: "Which I reflect that three-fourths of the people in California belong neither to the Protestant churches nor to the Catholic church, I am imbued with a desire to unite all the churches to work for these people." Now the bishop goes on that we are to have one universal church in California? Evidently so, because all the churches under their own denominational control are working for these people. Then we would like to ask what church is this universal church to be? If the bishop says M. E. Church North (and that would be natural) I have an idea that he will find there is more difference between the Methodists and Presbyterians than he seems to think. In fact, the widest flight of my imagination cannot picture a Roman Catholic lighting under a Methodist banner.

Granted that all the churches could be united in one universal church, what would be the result? A church trust, of course. And if a church trust will not its methods be something to enter the order of the great trusts and combinations of the great commercial world? Will it not find a way to dispossess of all who do not approve of its principles and refuse to co-operate in its purposes? It would be only a step to define a heretic and likewise to fix his punishment for refusing to enter the church trust.

One who is familiar with the history of the fourth century, and studies the words and deeds of the great religious councils of those days, must see an exact parallel in the present church union craze. Back there were co-operation and federation on a large and magnificent scale. The result was the fearful scenes and untold suffering of the Dark Ages. It was the minority who, burning bodies lighted up the streets of Rome under Nero. It was the minority that suffered the torture of the thumbscrew, the rack and the fagot rather than yield the "faith."

It was the majority, the co-operative, that defined the civil and religious duties of man and provided for punishments to fit the crime of not believing as others do.

Will history repeat itself? Will the twentieth century witness a crisis for the minority of this age and nation? I hope not, but let this federation or organic union of all the churches be pushed to the end and I tremble for the results.

Suppose this scheme is carried out. There can be but one logical result. The universal church will of necessity be the Roman Catholic church. It has the only feasible plan for a universal church; bishops, archbishops, Pope and all. The plan all holds together. The Catholic church and idea hinges on an infallible Pope and the unquestioning obedience rendered him by the members of his church. Only this could such a gigantic structure as a universal church be held together, even for a limited time. There is no more popular and no more vicious saying than "No matter what a man believes, so he is honest in it."

It is the underlying principle of this church union movement. Analyze it and you will find it is the sacrificing of individualism to massism. The individual thinking, conviction, ideas and conscience are all merged into a common, conglomerate unity of the mass of an aggregation of abnegating thinkers. If denominationalism ever meant anything, it meant that men thought along new lines, found new truth and gave new settings to old truth.

The beginnings of Protestantism was in its very essence the new emancipation of the old thoughts. Luther would never have broken with Rome had he been governed by this craze of unionism.

There has been a great deal of trimming and abnegation in recent years by "would-be" leaders in an order to make denominational differences seem insignificant and have them diminished to the vanishing point. Nevertheless, any honest and right-thinking man knows there is today, as there always has been, the same essential differences in denominations as when they were brought into existence. Arminianism, Calvinism, Lutheranism, Presbyterianism, Unitarianism, Universalism and Baptism stand for the same thing today as they did when each came into existence.

NON-UNIONIST.

STATE OF OREGON TO PUBLISH PAPER

Philanthropists have been urged to endow great newspapers as they endow libraries and museums. The idea being that only an "endowed" paper could be absolutely free, candid and fearless. In Oregon, where pure and absolute democracy, we are assured, the people rule and officials tremble and obey, they have different notions about journalism. Millionaire aid is not wanted. Dissatisfaction with the "commercial press" has led to the proposition for the publication by the state of an official gazette and its free distribution among the people.

The plan as carefully thought out is ingenious and interesting. A board of three "inspectors of government" representing labor, the farmers and the great commercial bodies is to edit the paper, with expert help. The paper would publish not merely state news, state documents and reports on county and municipal affairs, but also "news of progress and governmental experiments" all over the world. Criticism and complaints of official acts from citizens are to have a place in the paper, though no communication must exceed 200 words—a blow to the verbose correspondent or enthusiastic convert.

The referred measure limits the maximum cost of the paper to $1 for each registered voter, but if more money should be needed the editorial board would have to ask not the legislature but the people for it, the intention being to make the board independent of politicians and to discourage all intrigue and pull. Advertisements are barred; to this rule there are to be no exceptions under any disguise.

Oregon is our most advanced "sociological laboratory." Even Kansas has to borrow from it. It is not unlikely that the voters will approve the bill in question and make the state the publisher of a "live" journal of the higher political and social thought. But why not charge a reasonable price? Papers given away are not valued anywhere, and human nature is still human nature even in radical Oregon.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The most valuable asset the Cadillac Company possesses is its good name—a good name which is not merely the result of popular caprice, but has been earned by what the car has done and what it has been. The Cadillac is, as you know, unique in the kind things that are said, and thought and felt about it by thousands of people.

This good name, and the extraordinary good will which it has engendered everywhere, we interpret as an obligation to build a car so fine as to remove itself automatically from the likelihood of competition.

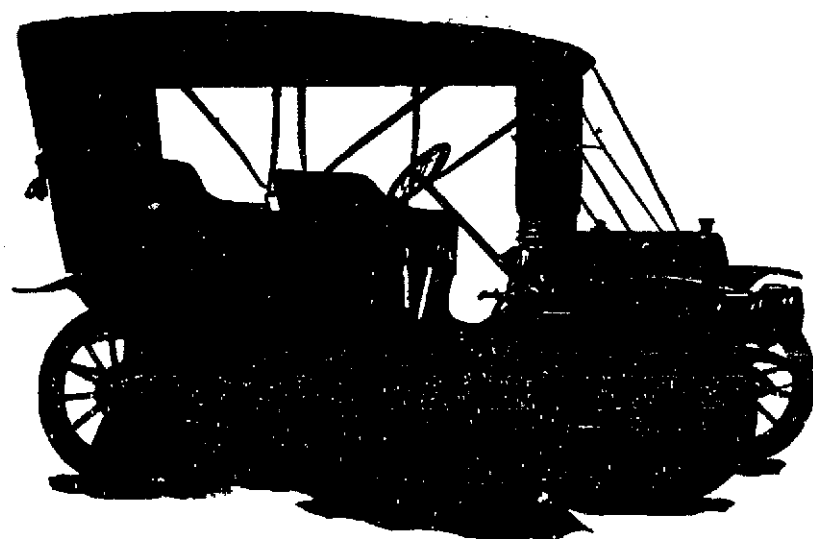

For 1911, therefore, our first thought—our one and only thought in fact—has been to satisfy that widespread and implicit confidence which always expects the exceptional from the Cadillac.

We believe we are justified in saying that in this larger, more powerful, more luxurious car, the Cadillac organization has surpassed itself. In spite of ten years of devoted adherence to the manufacturing principle that any one of ten thousand Cadillacs should be interchangeable in its parts with any other Cadillac of the same type, we were not ready so short a time as twelve months ago to build a car as worthy and as wonderful as this.

Manufacturing plants, like men, must fit themselves to do truly great things. Even with a system of standardization which has no equal in the world and which insures an absolutely perfect alignment of parts and the almost final elimination of friction, the value of 1911 was not possible in 1910.

You are receiving now, we verily believe, the most advanced type of exact and scientific motor car manufacture which the industry has produced.

FRANK CHANCE'S CUBS CLINCH TIE FOR FIRST PLACE IN RACE

If Giants Win All of Remaining Games and Chicago Loses, the Best McGraw's Men Can Do Is to Record a Tie; Pirates Win.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 1.—By winning today's game from Cincinnati, 9 to 6, Chicago clinched a tie for the National League pennant. The victory was a decidedly costly one, however, inasmuch as Second Baseman Johnny Evers, in sliding to the plate in the fifth inning broke a bone in his right ankle and will be out of the game for the remainder of the season, as he cannot possibly take part in the world's series in case Chicago wins the pennant. The score:

CINCINNATI
Chicago	9 11 2
Cincinnati	6 15 3
Batteries—Cole and Kling; Borch, Burns and Clarke.
Umpire—O'Day and Brennan.

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—In another shocking match, New York defeated Boston again today, 12 to 4. The score:

BRIGHTON, Eng., Oct. 1.—Jockey Tom Loath, who died here Wednesday, left a fortune of about $1,125,000, largely the result of careful investments under the guidance of Leopold de Rothschild, his chief executor.

Loath twice won the Epsom Derby in 1883 on the Duke of Portland's Donovan, and in 1893 on H. McAlmorn's Isinglass. In this latter race, time 2:53 is still a record for the event.

HELENA, Oct. 1.—Jack O' Lantern clipped three-fifths of a second from the state fair track record for one mile by winning the $500 Mountain Selling Stakes in 1:39 2-5. The week's racing ended today.

SUMMARY.
First race, free-for-all pace—Primus won three straight heats; Hazel Gold, second; Dillon, third. Best time, 2:24.
Third race, five furlongs, selling—Robert Mitchell, won; Garter Light, second; Ben Stone, third. Time, 1:00 4-5.

UNKNOWN MITCHELL WHITE SOX LOSE TO CLEVELAND; IS POUNDED ALL OVER LOT

Senators Clinch the Game Early; Jimmy Whalen Very Effective.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—It took only four innings for the Sacramento aggregation to drive "Mystery" Mitchell out of the game today. When five hits and six runs were chalked up against him he got the club house signal and Frank Miller went in to help out. Miller was found him better support than the great unknown had received. He was put out of the game by Mitchell for some sand but criticism of the umpire's judgment on balls and strikes. The score:

IMPORTANT DECISION

We had fully intended to have an exhibit of our pumping plants at the Fresno County Fair this year and cop the grand prize, but a rush of business compelled us to give up the idea, so we have decided---for this year only---to let the other fellow get the prize, and we will get the business. Next year with our increased facilities, we will get the business as usual, and also take the grand prize.

We have absolutely no dissatisfied customers

Which we consider somewhat of a prize in itself

Here is the Way Some of Our Customers Have Written to Us About Them

Kerman, Cal., Sept. 2, 1910.

Valley Foundry and Machine Works, Fresno, Cal.

Gentlemen: Replying to your favor of the 1st inst. regarding the 12 H. P. engine and 6 inch pump recently installed by you, I wish to say that I am more than pleased with its work.

It certainly fills a long felt want after having used another make of engine and pump, as I am now pumping more water with less expense and trouble.

I can truthfully recommend the Valley engine and pump to anyone in need of a first-class pumping plant

Yours very truly,

Gentlemen: It pleases me very much to inform you that the 12 H. P. Distillate engine I purchased from you recently has given the best of satisfaction.

It is so simple that any one can handle it and has given me no trouble at all.

Valley Foundry & Machine Works, Fresno, Cal.

Kind Sirs: It pleases me very much to be able to say that the 15 Horse Power Valley Engine and 5 inch Valley Pump I recently purchased of you has more than met my expectations. It has done all you claim for it. The engine is very simple and has very few working parts. I am more than pleased with the manner the plant was set up.

Trusting that this may be of interest and benefit to you, I am,

(Signed.)

Very truly yours,

M. D. HOOVER.

Fresno, Cal., May 4, 1910.

Valley Foundry & Machine Works, Fresno, Cal.

Gentlemen: In forwarding balance due on 6 horse power pumping plant with 4 inch pump, erected for me by you, I take pleasure in stating that it will lift more water than you claimed for it.

Having had some experience in past years with gas engines and pumps for irrigation, I must admit that your plant is the most simple in construction and economical in fuel that has come under my notice; besides the work of erecting it has been done in a most thorough manner. I find the engine is capable of pulling a 5 inch pump without crowding it and I want you to give me a figure on installing such instead of the 4 inch I have now. Wishing you success, I am, yours truly,

(Signed.)

Gentlemen: The 6 H. P. engine you installed at my place does all and more than you claimed for it. It runs steadily and smoothly and does its work with ease. I think its greatest advantage is its simplicity, which makes it the ideal engine for the farmer. Yours truly, Gentlemen: Replying to your inquiry about the 25 H. P. Distillate engine I purchased from your firm about two years ago, I beg to say that the engine is giving excellent satisfaction. There are so few working parts that the liability of getting out of order is reduced to a minimum.

Yours truly,

Gentlemen: Replying to your inquiry about the pumping plant (consisting of 12 H. P. Distillate engine and 6 inch centrifugal pump) which your firm recently installed for us, we beg to say the whole plant does more than you claimed for it. The pump puts up more water than you agreed to deliver and the engine would run a much larger pump with ease.

We wish to thank you for the manner in which you have looked after our interests in this matter, and to say further that we think our engine is the simplest and smoothest running engine made.

Gentlemen: The 12 Horse Power Gas Engine and the 5 inch Pump I purchased of you some time ago is giving entire satisfaction and it does all you claim. It pulls a 5 inch pump with all ease.

You have complied with your contract to the letter. I examined several makes of gas engines before I purchased.

It is easy to start and so simple I consider it superior to all others.
